Reynaud Forms 'Victory Cabinet' In France

NEW PREMIER ACTS SPEEDILY TO END CRISIS

Takes Premiership, Foreign Ministry Roles Himself in New Government.

WAITS CONFIDENCE VOTE

Chamber of Deputies Expected to Voice Sentiment During Balloting Tomorrow.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS — Energetic Paul Reynaud today gave embattled France a new government designed to "fight to victory" against Germany, holding the premiership and foreign ministry portfolio himself.

Reynaud made Edouard Daladier, whom he succeeded as premier, minister of defense in the new cabinet.

The official list of the new cabinet ministers, it was made known, will be announced at the finance ministry at 5 p. m.

The former finance minister who has become the new premier left the finance ministry with a majority of the ministers for Elysee palace to present them to President Albert LeBrun in midafternoon.

First to arrive in the Elysee palace court was Deputy Louis Rollin, slated to take the commerce portfolio, followed a few seconds later by the veteran Camille Chautemps who, it was reported, was retaining his position as vice premier.

Among those following closely was Henry Roy, picked to replace Albert Sarraut as minister of interior.

Sets Up War Cabinet.

The new government will include an inner war cabinet of five or six members, persons close to the premier-designate said, and will include parties ranging from Socialists on the left to groups of the right.

The members of the "inner war cabinet" were announced as:

Mother Kills Child In Stove

Because "he was too hard to care for," Mrs. Vivian Mathews, 38-year-old mother of three children, confessed she burned to death her eight-week-old son, Howard, in the kitchen stove, according to her statement to Mt. Clemens, Mich., police. Her husband collapsed at an automobile plant where he works when told of his wife's act. Photo shows Mrs. Mathews and the kitchen stove in which the child perished.

Spring Fever? Don't Be Kidded, There's No Such An Animal

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Grandmother probably will never believe it but take the word of experts—she was all wrong when she gave generous doses of sulphur and molasses as a cure for "spring fever." There isn't any such thing.

That listless feeling you get around this time of year, isn't something that you can prescribe medicine for, or put down in a text book, or analyze under cause and effect. It is, well—

"It's all a myth—a state of mind," says Dr. Hobart A. Reimann, professor of medicine at Jefferson medical college.

"When the weather gets warm, people begin to think of going fishing and going on vacations. But they can't because they have to keep working. So they feel against the restraint and become restless. That's all spring fever is."

BAN LIFTED

Health Chief Ends Quarantine on Hospital's Main Floor.

A quarantine affecting 35 patients at the General hospital following the discovery last week of two cases of scarlet fever was lifted today by Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner.

Dr. Rehder said that with the danger past, visitors would be permitted into the main floor wards which have been closed to the public since last Wednesday.

Although the two patients with the disease were removed to their homes after their illness had been diagnosed as scarlet fever, the quarantine had been put into effect as a precautionary measure to thwart any spread of the disease, the commissioner said.

A third case discovered in the men's ward following the quarantine has been placed in isolation at the hospital, it was reported today.

WINS ELECTRIC RATE REDUCTION

Lorain, Which Had Been Paying Same Price as Mansfield, Gets 5-Year Contract.

The city of Lorain today had won an electric light rate reduction from the Ohio Public Service company, which yesterday agreed to a new five-year rate contract with the city.

The settlement ended a five-year controversy between the city and the company over rates.

The reduction will amount to 40 cents a month or $4.80 a year for the consumer who uses 50 kilowatts a month. His bill will be $2.40 under the new schedule, as compared with $2.80 as at present.

The new schedule gives Lorain consumers the same rate as is now in effect in neighboring Sandusky, also served by the Ohio Public Service.

It also brings the Lorain rate under that paid by Mansfield customers of the company. For several years, the rates in Lorain and Mansfield had been identical.

The Lorain council protested against paying a higher rate than was in effect in Sandusky, and passed a rate contract ordinance that set up the same schedule of charges as Sandusky had.

Under the new Lorain rate, bills will be as follows, based on varying amounts of consumption: 25 kilowatts $1.40, 50 kilowatts, $2.40, 100 kilowatts $4.03 and 200 kilowatts, $6.53.

Mansfield consumers pay for 25 kilowatts $1.85, for 50 kilowatts, $2.80, for 100 kilowatts, $4.30 and for 200 kilowatts, $7.03. Mansfield has no rate contract with the Ohio Public Service company.

STAB WOUNDS FATAL

COLUMBUS—(NS)—Two hours after Rosebud Brown, 34, negress, was stabbed fatally, a suspect was captured and held for questioning. Columbus police reported today. Officers said a bloody pocket knife was found in one of the suspect's pockets.

Capone Heads For Heavily-Guarded Estate In Florida

BALTIMORE, Md. — (U.P.) — Al Capone has left Baltimore, where he has been undergoing treatment for paresis since Nov. 16 for his home in Palm Island, Fla., his physician, Dr. Joseph Earle Moore, said today.

The one time Chicago gang chief still is ill and he must continue under medical care, the physician said in a formal statement.

"Alphonse Capone has left Baltimore," the statement said. "It is understood that he will return to his home in Florida. He still is ill and will continue under medical care."

In addition to being on an island, the Capone estate is surrounded by a high, white wall. It is closely guarded by family retainers who excluded all unauthorized persons. Therefore, Capone could be there with no one but members of his family knowing. A large car with Illinois license plates was parked in the yard last night.

Police, however, will know within 48 hours. A local ordinance requires any person who was ever convicted of a felony to register within that time of his arrival. If Capone has not registered by Saturday, there probably will be an inquiry in view of local and Baltimore reports.

STAYS IN BED

Roosevelt's Temperature Back To Normal, Doctor Says.

WASHINGTON —(NS)— President Roosevelt's temperature was back to normal today, but White House Physician Ross T. McIntire said the executive still was suffering from the grippe, and would stay in bed as much of the day as possible.

Mr. Roosevelt remained in bed yesterday in an attempt to shake off the cold that has dogged him — more than a week.

Holds Temper Not Grounds For Divorce In Six-Page Opinion

In a six-page opinion, one of the longest on record here in a divorce case, Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today refused to grant a Mansfield couple a divorce and held that "incompatibility of temper is not a ground of divorce."

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Feeman, 148 Miller street, were the couple whose domestic difficulties resulted in the lengthy ruling. The case had been pending in court since last spring when Mrs. Feeman filed the suit, charging cruelty and neglect. Feeman then countered with a cross-petition, asking divorce on grounds that his wife "nagged and insulted" him.

Judge Huston termed the case "a sour cherry" and turned down both petitions. Mrs. Feeman has been married four times and her husband twice.

Criticizing the Feeman's for "quarreling over a porch swing that could be bought at any second-hand store for a dollar and a half," Judge Huston said that not all cases of incompatibility could be classed as cruelty to either or both of the parties.

"Certain attitudes and conduct and language on the part of the wife toward her husband may be carried to a point where it becomes cruelty, depending upon whether the husband has a sensitive nature," the opinion said.

"In this case it is doubtful if the husband has a nature that sensitive," the court said.

Judge Huston gave Mrs. Feeman the property where she lives and the household goods.

RED 'TELL ALL' THREAT SNAGS DIES PROBERS

Communists Serve Ultimatum on U. S. Officials to Block Dozenberg Testimony.

HEARS 'SECRETS' FILCHED

Federal Investigators Learn Reds Got Military Data for Soviet Government.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—"Prosecute us—and we'll tell all."

This ultimatum, it was stated today by a gilt-edged authority, has been conveyed to certain federal officials by leading Russian communists who, allegedly, have been "boring from within" and obtaining valuable information in governmental circles in Washington.

The communists' threat to government officials that "we'll expose you if you prosecute us" is said to be blocking efforts of the Dies congressional committee to bring into the open "the full story" of the activities of Nicholas Dozenberg, alias Dallant, who is reputed to be the chief red spy in this country.

Dozenberg, it is alleged, was head of the Soviet military intelligence in the United States whose "specialty" was contacting the various government departments in Washington.

The Dies committee, soon to resume its investigation of subversive activities, wants to get Dozenberg on the witness stand but it is doubtful whether it will succeed.

In fact, a sharp struggle is now in progress between the Dies committee and federal officials over the question of making public all the facts the United States secret service has gathered on Dozenberg. There is even dissension within the committee itself on this point.

The big question at issue is this:

"Will the secret service files on Dozenberg be made available to the Dies committee and opened to the public?"

Insiders doubt that they will. But if they are, they declare, sen-

ALL ELIGIBLE

Election Board Qualifies 72 Candidates Who Filed Here.

The Richland county board of elections last night qualified all of the 72 county and district candidates for places on the party ballots at the May 14 primary and ordered supplies for the May and November elections.

Candidates who filed before the deadline last Friday were declared eligible to seek nominations after the election board found they had a sufficient number of legal signatures on their petitions and had filed properly.

Election supplies, including poll books, tally and summary sheets, and envelopes, were purchased from the Columbus Blank Book company, lowest of four bidders. The firm's bid was $695. Others ranged upward to $1,155.

Because of the large number of candidates, party ballots for the primary will be the longest voters have received in the county in recent years.

JIMMY ALL SET?

N. Y. Paper Says He'll Wed Nurse Year From Now.

NEW YORK — (NS) — Jimmy Roosevelt, the president's son, has admitted he will marry his former nurse, Romelle Schneider, next March when a final divorce decree is given his wife, Mrs. Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, the New York Mirror said today in an exclusive story.

One of the reporters asked young Roosevelt if he would "wait the year out" before marrying Miss Schneider and it quoted him as replying:

"I will have to do that, I guess."

Florida Mother-to-Be Waits for Birth of Quints [Boys, She Hopes]

X-Ray Photos Disclose She'll Be Mother of 5 In May or Sooner.

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla.—Enriched by an agreement that provides funds and medical care, Mrs. Katherine Callahan, who hopes to become a mother of quintuplets, rested today in a hospital suite far more luxurious than her one-room, $2.50-a-week apartment.

But she was not a willing patient. Her physician, Dr. Arthur W. Wood, who earlier confirmed that X-ray photographs apparently showed five distinct heads of unborn babies, had to persuade the mother that a period of rest was necessary.

"I'm not sick," she asserted, and demanded to be permitted to join her husband, Emory, 30-year-old furniture factory woodworker who earns $15 weekly.

Today the Miami Herald, whose owner, John S. Knight, placed the Callahans under contract for exclusive publication rights of photographs and news, planned to lease a new home for them where nursing and medical attention would be constantly available.

The Herald's agreement provided the prospective mother with an undisclosed sum of money, the services of Dr. Wood and specialists if the physician desires to call them, and all hospital expenses, including nurses, as well as income from news and pictures.

Normally, the babies would be born May 20. Medical men pointed out, however, that multiple births usually are premature. The mother, a small, brown-haired, blue-eyed woman, has gained 20 pounds in recent months. She weighs 128 now, but her condition was declared to be excellent by Dr. Wood.

Mrs. Emory Callahan of Miami, Fla., and inset George Callahan, her husband, a furniture factory worker.

The husband's father, Thomas C. Callahan of Thomasville, Ga., was a twin, but no other multiple births have been recorded in the family.

The Callahans are pleased that fate apparently selected them for the event with a mathematical probability of 1 in 57,000,000.

"I hope they're all boys," said the mother. "Emory likes boys."

She said she wanted a family of 12 children.

Easter Paraders Receive Chilly News—It'll Be Cold

Sub-Freezing Weather to Stay, Spring or No Spring, Forecast Says; Reading Today Hits 15-Year Low.

Mansfielders probably will need their heavy coats when they do their Easter parading Sunday, the weatherman warned today.

A one-day-old fledgling, spring couldn't make much headway today against a cold wave that gave the city one of its coldest mornings for late March in the past 15 years. The mercury registered a chilly 12 degrees above zero, and the weatherman said the cold will stay over Sunday.

More snow flurries were forecast for tonight and colder weather is due Friday as skies clear, the forecast said. It will be continued cold Saturday and Sunday.

The temperature this morning equalled the 15-year low mark for the last 10 days of March. On March 26, 1937, the mercury also registered 12 above.

The city's average temperature reading for the past 24 hours was 24 degrees, 15.6 degrees below normal. At noon today the mercury had moved up to 34 degrees, two above freezing.

Most of the northern half of the nation felt the sting of frigid weather and at Duluth, Minn., it was zero this morning.

Ohio's mixture of every kind of weather from a blizzard to sunshine moved eastward today, and giving the New England states rain, snow, sleet, hail, thunder and lightning. Snow fell at Albany and Buffalo, N. Y., and temperatures were below normal from Georgia northward into Ontario.

Willby Sheldon, 29, of Wellington, the truck driver, was cut. All were brought to Elyria Memorial hospital after the accident yesterday.

REVENUES RISE

Income Tax Payments 31 Per Cent Ahead of Last Year.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary Morgenthau said today that preliminary estimates of annual income tax collections were running 31.2 per cent ahead of last year and "comfortably ahead" of President Roosevelt's budget estimate.

The treasury secretary said at a press conference that telegraphic reports from regional collection offices showed collection of $621,000,000 of income taxes in the first 20 days of March, compared with $473,000,000 in the like period last year.

At the same time, Morganthau repudiated proposals to use some of the $2,000,000,000 in the treasury's stabilization fund to avoid the debt limit.

"I certainly am not going to use the stabilization fund or any other trick method to avoid the debt limit," the treasury head said.

QUEEN MARY OFF TO SHIP TROOPS

Britain's Pride of the Seas Lifts Anchor, Steams Away Under Sealed Orders.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — The 81,000-ton British liner Queen Mary, second largest ship in the world, sailed from New York harbor today in the wake of her smaller sister ship, the 35,000-ton Mauretania, presumably embarked on a new career as an allied troop transport.

The armed Mauretania, which the Germans have promised to sink on sight as an auxiliary naval vessel, was the first to slip away. She was eased into the Hudson river and headed south toward the narrows and the danger-fraught Atlantic during a thunderstorm at 8 o'clock last night. She passed quarantine 55 minutes later in a pelting rain.

It was reported that both ships, their last-minute sailing preparations and instructions shrouded in secrecy, had been

Churches Prepare For Solemn Observance of Good Friday

Mansfield prepared today for the solemn observance of Good Friday tomorrow commemorating the crucifixion of Christ.

Good Friday is a day of mourning and prayer on the Christian calendar and most churches in the city will observe the day with special services.

Union services will be conducted at noon at the First Lutheran and First Presbyterian churches while downtown offices and stores will close to permit employes to attend.

In the evening services will be held at other churches and the combined First Presbyterian and First Congregational choirs will present a cantata at the First Presbyterian church.

At St. Peter's Catholic church, where the story of the crucifixion is retold in centuries-old ritual, the occasion will have a more dramatic expression.

Altars of the church will be draped in black, symbol of mourning, and the vestments of the priests will be black.

The mass of the pre-sanctified will start at noon and services will continue until 3 p. m. to commemorate Christ's three hours of agony on the cross.

At 7:30 p. m. a vested choir in the sanctuary will sing the Tenebrae together with priests of the Four Killed in Raids, Three Neutral Vessels Sunk, Two Damaged in North Sea.

SHIPS FIRE AT RAIDERS

British Convoy on Scottish Coast Attacked in Nazi Reprisal Move.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (AP) — The air ministry announced that enemy air craft appeared over the Shetland Islands, north of Scotland, this afternoon.

(By United Press)

LONDON — German airplanes raided British coastal shipping today after having killed four persons in an attack on a British steamer.

Six others were injured in the aerial attack, according to dispatches from coastal points, which indicated that the Nazi planes were active in the English channel.

Persons on the channel coast reported explosions off shore in connection with the raids, which followed intensification of aerial attacks by both Britain and Germany in the last few days. Three neutral ships had been sunk and two damaged yesterday in the North sea.

In addition to the German aerial bombardment of a convoy off Scapa Flow German planes were active off a wide stretch of the south coast of England last night and were engaged by British fighters, it was disclosed.

Attack British Convoy.

One ship was sunk and two were damaged in an airplane attack on a British convoy off the Scottish coast, in a possible reprisal for the British Royal Air Force attack on Sylt.

Two were sunk either by mines or torpedoes, but not by airplanes, it was asserted.

It was announced today that seven survivors of the Danish steamships Bothal, 2,109 tons, and Viking, 1,153 tons, had been landed at a northeast British port and it was feared that 36 members of the crews had perished.

It was these ships which, according to reports here, were mined or torpedoed.

LEAVE POLAND

U. S. Consular Officials Out Because of Nazi Order.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — American citizens in partitioned Poland were cut off from all direct diplomatic representation today as the United States, acting under German compulsion, withdrew its consular officials.

The state department ordered the withdrawal reluctantly after unavailing protests to the Berlin government.

In yielding to the "request" that all consular establishments "must be evacuated, the department informed Germany that it was reserving "all of its rights in the matter."

The German order, the state department said last night, applied to the diplomatic representatives of all foreign countries. This was confirmed by informed sources in Berlin, which said that for visa purposes the lack of consulates in the area was inconsequential because no one can visit the territory without a special permit from its governor general.

MISSING AT SEA

Cleveland Mortician Reported To Have Vanished From Liner.

HONOLULU, T. H. — (NS) — George Sharer, 84, Cleveland mortician, was reported today to have vanished at sea from the Matson liner Lurline. Captain C. A. Barndison, master of the luxury liner, said he had been informed by a woman passenger that she saw an object splash into the water but believed it was a crate thrown from the ship.

Sharer, in failing health, had boarded the Lurline in San Francisco.

42,014 IN CITY AREA, SURVEY BY RPI SHOWS

Finds 27,604 Between Ages of 20 and 65 Years Living in 12,161 Dwelling Units.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the tenth of a series of articles on the work and findings of the Real Property Inventory, better known as the RPI, conducted by the WPA in Mansfield.

By HAROLD K. MANSFIELD
Director, Real Property Inventory

The RPI survey was not a census since it was concerned primarily with dwelling units and not individuals. However a count was made of the persons in each dwelling unit and a classification made according to age. Those living in hotels, clubs, hospitals and other institutions were not counted. There were also sixty homes where it was impossible to get a report on the number and age of occupants.

Thus the total population as reported for the 12,161 dwelling units in the whole Mansfield survey area was 42,014 persons. Of this number, 36,569 live within the city limits.

Of the total of 42,015 persons, 27,604 or 65.7% are of working age, that is to say from 20 to 65 years old. In the "retirement age group"—65 years and older—there are 1973 persons or 4.7% of our total population.

There were reported 692 babies with ages under one year and 2431 children in the age group of 1-5 years. Thus 7.4% of the total population is made up of children under 5 years of age. There are 3047 children or 7.3% in the 5-10 year age group; 3143 or 7.5% ranging from 10 to 15 years old; while the 15 to 19 age group is made up of 3124 young people or 7.4% of the total population.

Mansfield differs somewhat in the distribution of her age groups from the average in the state as shown in the figures for 12 Ohio cities where surveys were made in 1934, 35 and 36. Seventy and four-tenths per cent of our population is past the age of 20 while the state average is 66.9%. This also means that we have 3.5% less children in our city than is reported for the average of the 12 Ohio cities.

The RPI tabulated the number of dwellings containing children, defining a child as a person under 15 years of age. Thus 7032 or 58.0% of the dwellings were without children. The state average for the 12 cities was 54.4%.

One child is found in each of 2578 Mansfield homes, or 21.3%, which is 0.4% higher than the state average. Fourteen hundred and ninety dwelings each contain 2 children or 12.3%, and 847 families or 7.0% have 3 to 4 children. There are a few extra large families where five or more children are present. We found only 167 such homes which accounts for 1.4% of the total dwellings.

Finds Less Children.

Families with two or more children occupy 20.7% of our homes, whereas in the 12 Ohio cities, 24.7% of the dwellings contained two or more children. This is consistent with the finding that our population has 3.5% less children than is found in the total population of the 12 Ohio cities.

The information for the Real Property Survey was gathered from house to house during last spring and summer so the following figures on vacancies apply to that period only. It is the general opinion among real estate dealers that there are fewer available vacant homes today than there were at this time last year.

Out of a total of 12,502 dwelling units in the survey area, 341 were reported vacant. This is a 2.7% rate of vacancy as compared to 8%, the average rate for the 203 cities where surveys were made in 1934, 35, and 36. Five per cent is considered the average rate for vacancies in normal times. One-hundred and fifty-two of the 341 vacant units are single family homes while the balance of 189 vacant dwelling units are apartments or halves of doubles and duplexes.

About one-third of all tenants move every year, and this leaves some dwellings vacant at all times. Over half of the vacant units had been empty less than three months while a total of 69.8% had been vacant less than six months. It may be assumed that the majority of these homes did not remain vacant long, because as movings took place, other homes were placed in the vacant group.

Thirty-one dwelling units or 11.6% had been vacant from 6 months to a year. One to two year vacancies were reported for 25 homes or 9.3% while the same number, 25, had been vacant for 2 years or more.

Seventy-three per cent or 246 of the vacant units were in good condition or only in need of minor repairs. Major repairs were needed for 67 or 19.9% of the units, while 24 or 7.1% were classed as unfit for use.

Rental valuations were reported on 256 of the vacant units. Over a third of the dwellings, 89 of them, have a rental value under $20 per month. Rental value of $20 to $30 was placed on 73 or 28.6% of the units. Sixty-nine vacant homes rented for $30 to $50 while 25 had a rental value of $50 and up.

Vacant homes are not a problem here in Mansfield except when a person is looking for a desirable one into which to move. Those that remain vacant over long periods of time are for the most part either in poor condition, inadequately equipped as to heating and plumbing, or the unit does not afford private accomodations to the occupants. Today there is a big demand for rental homes provided they are modern and the price is reasonable.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove extra acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of vim and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. You sometimes suffer scanty or too frequent urination with burning and smarting when some part of the urinary system other than the kidneys or bladder is at fault.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CLEVELAND INFIELD STACKS UP WITH BEST

Oscar was asked if his club looked good enough to beat the Red Sox, then why mightn't it go right on and tumble the Yanks?

"Now, now," interrupted the Indian pilot. "Let's take 'em one at a time. Let's wait and see how Ruffing goes this year."

Cincinnati Defeats Phillies, 10 to 0.

HAVANA — (U.P.) — The Cincinnati Reds got a change of scenery in tropical Cuba today after breezing briskly through a familiar act—crushing the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Redlegs walloped the National league contenders, 10 to 0, yesterday at Miami Beach to make the Rhinelanders again feel like the champions of 1939 when the futile Phils were their favorite "cousins."

The two McCormick's, Frank and Mike; Harry Craft and Rookie Daman Phillips led the 14-hit slaughter on four Phillie pitchers. Walter Hutchins and Joe Beggs, Redleg mound recruits, held the Phils scoreless on 11 hits helped along by tight defensive work from their mates.

Frank McCormick, who looks ready for a third big season clouted two doubles and a single; Mike McCormick showed promise of regaining his batting eye with a single and a long triple; Craft, another "problem" hitter, got a triple and a double, and Phillips collected a double and a single.

Phillips, signed as a Detroit free agent last winter, played with Henderson of the East Texas league last summer. He is a slim 20-year-old shortstop who looks smart in the field.

Manager Bill McKechnie was pleased with the hustle shown by his club after uninspired performances last week. He had high praise for Hutchings and Beggs as mound prospects.

The Reds play a team of Cuban All-Stars here today, Saturday and Sunday.

THEATERS

William Cameron Menzies, whose contributions to motion picture advancement as production designer for "Gone With The Wind" won him a special award at the hands of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences, has been signed by Walter Wanger to assist in the production of "Personal History," which will go into production soon. Joel McCrea will play the leading role, which is that of an American newspaper writer assigned the hazardous task of exposing European political intrigues.

Continues Friday.

"He Married His Wife" is continued through Friday at the Ohio theater, with Joel McCrea and Nancy Kelly in the leads. Complications occur in many instances when the choice of a second husband is debated between the two. Joel picks a wealthy reliable but uninteresting man for his divorced wife to marry, but Nancy has other ideas in the person of Cesar Romero. Mary Boland and Roland Young furnish the comedy.

"Isle of Destiny."

The attraction at the Madison for Friday is "Isle of Destiny," which goes to the South Pacific for adventure between the U. S. Marines and international gun runners and for romance between a glamor girl flier and two daredevil leathernecks. William Gargan and Wallace Ford are featured as the two fighting marines who have been complaining about the dullness of life at the U. S. Air Base on the island of Palo Pango. The girl pilot is June Lang.

Underprivileged Youths.

"Forgotten Girls," the picture showing at the Park theater Friday deals with one of the most trying of the national problems—the underprivileged youth. Louise Platt and Donald Woods portray the leading roles, two youngsters who are swept by circumstances beyond their control in a maelstrom of intrigue and murder. Wynne Gibson portrays the frowsy stepmother. The co-feature is Roy Rogers as "Arizona Kid" with Gabby Hayes and Sally March in the supporting cast.

Majestic Features.

Edward G. Robinson plays an escaped convict living under an assumed name as an oil well dynamiter in "Blackmail" which is showing at the Majestic theater. The co-feature is "Desperate Trails," starring Johnny Mack Brown, Bill Cody, jr., Bob Baker and Frances Robinson. Adventures of a handsome law officer during colorful days of the old west and the astonishing schemes by which he keeps bandits and outlaws in a state of perpetual bewilderment are found in this story.

Comedy and Western.

Hedda Hopper, actress, writer, Hollywood columnist and familiar figure in the heavier dramas, makes her first appearance in comedy scenes with Constance Moore and Johnny Downs in "Laugh It Off," at the Ritz theater beginning Friday. This is a musical romance of colorful dance revues and four new hit songs. The second feature is Tex Ritter in "Down the Wyoming Trail."

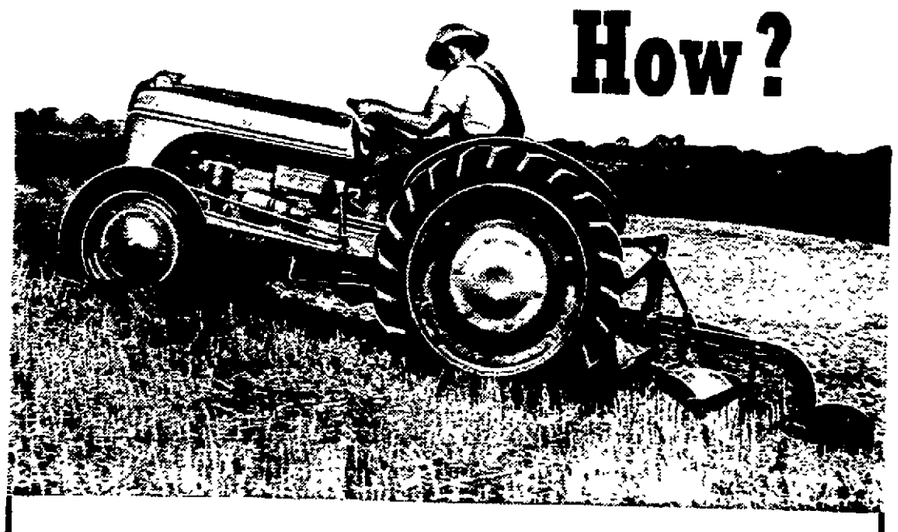
IT DOES MORE WORK— DOES IT BETTER— DOES IT CHEAPER— How?



- The new Ford tractor with Ferguson system and its wheel-less implements does more work because it has two-plow capacity, provides quick entry and finish, takes less than one minute to attach or detach implements (including two-row cultivators), insures against delays in wet grounds or rocky fields.

It does better work because it minimizes soil packing, maintains even depth of furrow, makes finishing your lands simple and easy, plows and cultivates steep hillsides and narrow places that now you do not even work with horses.

It does work cheaper because the absence of excess weight and its advanced design make for greater fuel and operating economy; its ruggedness and simplicity mean long life; its low first cost means greater savings.

So—see the Ford tractor with Ferguson system for yourself. You'll see things done you never thought possible on a farm! We'll be glad to show you any time.

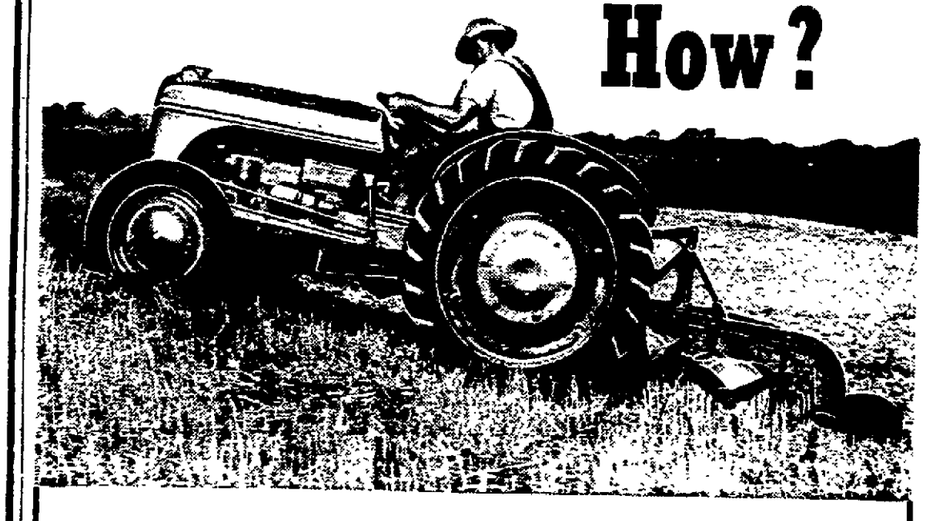
IT DOES MORE WORK— DOES IT BETTER— DOES IT CHEAPER— How?



• The new Ford tractor with Ferguson system and its wheel-less implements does more work because it has two-plow capacity, provides quick entry and finish, takes less than one minute to attach or detach implements (including two-row cultivators), insures against delays in wet grounds or rocky fields.

It does better work because it minimizes soil packing, maintains even depth of furrow, makes finishing your lands simple and easy, plows and cultivates steep hillsides and narrow places that now you do not even work with horses.

It does work cheaper because the absence of excess weight and its advanced design make for greater fuel and operating economy; its ruggedness and simplicity mean long life; its low first cost means greater savings.

So—see the Ford tractor with Ferguson system for yourself. You'll see things done you never thought possible on a farm! We'll be glad to show you any time.

MANY LEADERS NEGLECTED IN TODAY'S MART

Aircrafts Maintain Popularity; Bonds, Foreign Securities Hold Steady Course.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Aircrafts maintained their popularity in today's stock market but many leaders were neglected.

Best movers included Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft and Sperry.

Bonds and foreign securities markets held to a fairly steady course. Commodities were mostly higher.

While traders still were more bullish than otherwise, the majority inclined to keep commitments light in view of the fact the exchange will be closed tomorrow, Good Friday.

Studied in boardrooms was the survey of the Engineering News-Record indicating construction awards for the week ended Tuesday amounted to $52,202,000 against $43,308,000 in the preceding week and $57,893,000 in the comparable period last year.

Some encouragement was derived from the figures of Dun & Bradstreet disclosing a sharp upturn in the country's bank clearings in the week concluded yesterday.

PREACHER FIRST HACKS OFF A FINGER, THEN CHOPS OFF HAND

(By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH — Emmanuel Shapiro, 20-year-old preacher of the gospel of Jehovah's Witnesses, hacked off his left hand at the wrist today and then walked across the city to his mother's home, holding the bleeding stump of his arm in his pocket.

Police who traced him to his parent's hill district residence, rushed him to Mercy hospital for emergency treatment. Later he was removed to St. Francis hospital for mental observation.

Police said Shapiro first severed one finger, then his hand.

Shapiro refused to explain his act, but a member of the same religious sect said:

"You can find anything in the Bible."

From that pointed observation, it was thought possible Shapiro took literally the Biblical quotation:

"And if thy hand cause thee to stumble, cut it off; it is good for thee to enter into life maimed, rather than having thy hands to go into hell, into the unquenchable fire" . . . Mark 9:43.

David Garvin, janitor at the Northside Gospel hall where the self-mutilation occurred, said he found Shapiro sitting in a chair, blood gushing from his arm and his left hand lying on the floor.

Nearby, a 12-inch butcher knife was clamped in an iron workbench vise. A heavy machinist's hammer lay alongside. Police believed the minister laid his arm across the knife blade and hammered away until the hand dropped off.

3 FOUND DEAD IN PARKED TRUCK

Fumes From Motor Blamed for Pennsylvania Tragedy.

DUBOIS, Pa.—(AP)—Motor police reported a man and two youths found dead in their truck apparently had pulled off the main highway to rest, leaving the motor running to keep warm.

The victims were identified by Coroner E. E. Erhard as William Claycomb, 50, of Alum Bank in the mountains of Bedford county, his 18-year-old son Howard and William Hockenberry, 22, St. Clairsville, Pa.

Police said the three apparently died Monday night of carbon monoxide. Ed Hack, Pennsylvania Power company driver, found the bodies in the truck's cab late yesterday.

GERMAN PLANES BOMB CHANNEL, CLAIM 'HITS'

Four Killed in Raids, Three Neutral Vessels Sunk, Two Damaged in North Sea.

ta, 1,267 tons, was sunk in the convoy attack and the Swedish steamship Utklippan, 1,599 tons, and the Norwegian steamship Tora Elise, 721 tons, were damaged.

The communique indicated that the German planes attacked more than once, as it was mentioned that both the fleet air arm (planes serving with the battle fleet) and coastal patrol planes engaged the attackers, and that "on one occasion" the fleet planes drove off 10 Heinkel bombers.

It was asserted that fire from the convoy's anti-aircraft guns damaged one German plane and that several attacking planes were struck by fire from the fleet ships.

The admiralty said that no warships were damaged in the raid.

Germans Claim Nine Warships Destroyed.

BERLIN — (U P) — German airplanes, in an attack on a British convoy protected by cruisers, destroyers, airplanes and an armed merchantman, sank nine warships and merchantmen totaling about 40,000 tons and seriously damaged two merchantmen totaling about 11,000 tons, the high command asserted today.

The attack, 24 hours after the British raid on Sylt island, took place "toward evening" yesterday off Scapa Flow, British fleet base in the Orkney islands above Scotland, the high command asserted.

One of the attacking German planes is missing, it was said, and one British plane was downed.

It was established, the high command said, that three British planes were destroyed in the Sylt raid.

The official German news agency D. N. B., amplifying the high command's communique, gave the following details of the German aerial attack on the convoy:

"The German air force late yesterday afternoon carried out a brilliant attack off Scapa Flow against a strong enemy convoy which was powerfully protected by warships. The actual attack followed careful reconnaissance.

"Several of the steamers which were badly hit sank while others were in flames and thick smoke clouds curled over the North Sea. In contrast to this result the loss of one German plane was slight. In addition one armed British merchantman was attacked in the English channel."

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1940.

A Pennsylvania police surgeon says a man is sober if he can say, "Susie sat in the soup"—but what about Susie?

March's ten-day offering of alleged spring should not be confused with the real article, which will reach Ohio territory in due course.

Research discloses that as far back as 1896 the Democratic platform strongly urged government economy—but not with the ardor displayed in 1932.

Essentials To Continued Freedom

AFTER a study of national traits in the United States, France, and England, an Oberlin professor, Newell L. Sims, concludes that love for liberty is dying.

His opinion is that the American of today is not proud of his individuality of thought or act, but strives to be like everybody else. There is certainly a paternalistic intrusion in many phases of life. But whether this should be considered as a sign of declining interest is another question.

The unexampled freedom enjoyed by people in the United States is made possible by acceptance of the theory of individual equality, and assumption that all persons, upon reaching the age of 21, become capable of self government.

The fact that majority decisions determine policies does not indicate that minority views are regarded as wrong—it merely provides a practicable basis of orderly procedure in cities, states and the nation as a whole.

Other countries have aspired to democracy but, in a number of instances, have recognized that the average intelligence of their citizenship has not yet advanced to the point of making self government a safe venture—hence the resort to dictatorships or milder monarchies as restraints on the freedom of individuals.

Every step toward paternalism; every encroachment of government upon fields of private enterprise; every demand upon government to provide for normal persons unable to care for themselves, and every criminal act committed in this country argues against the principles of democracy.

It is expected, through further education, to steadily increase the majority of American citizens who have evidenced capability for self government, so that the experiment in which this country is engaged shall not fail.

Thrift Turns the Tide

REAL prosperity can be brought about again in this country only by a revival of "old fashioned Yankee thrift and individual initiative." This is not opinionated theory but a hard fact, and the state of Connecticut is taking full advantage of it. While the rest of the country continues on a "witches' hunt" for Utopia, Connecticut is determinedly pursuing a course of progress.

The incumbent governor was elected on a platform pledge to establish a "friendly government"—friendly to business, industry and labor. The state budget has been balanced, without resorting to new taxes—relief rolls have been halved—factory space is at a premium—160 new companies moved to Connecticut in 1939 alone—and employment is higher than in 1929. The state has found that "there is no substitute for a good job in private industry."

No effort was made to "steal" industry from other states, or to use high pressure methods. Labor standards were not sacrificed. In fact industries which move across the border in search of "cheap" labor are not welcome. Sweatshops have no place in American life.

Politicians who claim that private enterprise is a "worn out" system, have only to observe Connecticut to have their claims shattered.

Where there is individual opportunity there is progress; where there is no individual opportunity there is no progress.

Contributed Time and Service

AN ADMIRABLE example of ways in which a person can adjust his life so as to give service to others at the same time he is building a successful career for himself, was provided by Samuel Untermyer, who died a few days ago at the age of 82 years.

Gaining unusual success as a lawyer by the time he had reached the age of 30, Mr. Untermyer began at that time to contribute a considerable part of his time and legal services to the public's side in various causes which enlisted his sympathies.

Fortunate in his own ability to gain an extensive and lucrative law practice, Mr. Untermyer recognized an obligation to devote a part of his talents to service in the public interest, although he never held any public office, and the services which he gave without pay will make him longer remembered than those which earned him considerable wealth.

American Shipyards Booming

THE American merchant marine problem apparently is being solved very nicely. Keeping U. S. ships out of the war zone has not been a hardship, since the first few weeks. On the contrary, this extreme pacifist measure seems to have been a blessing in disguise.

Surplus ships have been sold at profitable prices to countries that have no inhibitions about using them in the war zone. They serve the purpose there because an old ship sunk is less of a loss than a new one would be. Meanwhile new vessels are being built at a rate that promises to provide all the ships that will be needed and our shipyards are booming.

The end of the war will probably find America with a fine, new merchant marine well fitted to go after world trade, and with modern facilities for producing as many more as are needed.

Waning Taste for Caviar

CAVIAR is becoming scarce in this country. It may be because of world trade conditions, or it may be merely that the great American rage for it was a passing fad, not a permanent taste. At any rate, only 200,000 pounds of it was imported last year, which was less than half as much as the average yearly importation between 1934 and 1937.

According to the New York Times, caviar was not mentioned in import statistics before the World war. It seems to have "come in" as a popular dish over here with the proletarian revolution in Russia.

A Texas bigamist, after six marriages, is now reported as enjoying his freedom in the penitentiary.

Aside from the fact that he left an $88,000 estate, Walt Mason qualified as a poet.

Welles Brings Little Encouragement to Early Peace

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Don't look now, but I think the answers to this quiz are at the bottom of the column:

1. Here is a character from each of the current 10 best-selling novels. Name the novels: (a) Sarry Wilson; (b) Tubby Windrush; (c) Herod Philip; (d) Dim Fragrance; (e) Kitty; (f) Dr. Ebispo; (g) The Rev. Mr. Gruffydd; (h) Eben Adams; (i) Galileo; (j) Emmy Ritter. If you get five you are a star.

2. My nickname is Red. Once I slapped a famous author's face at a dinner in New York. I am married to a columnist. Some years ago, one of my books was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature. Another of my novels was dramatized for the stage and became a Broadway success. I have written novels about a doctor, a preacher, and a hotel. On at least one occasion my name was in the headlines for "objecting" to having my picture taken while eating. I hate to see pictures of people with their mouths open. Who am I?

3. All popular dance bands have identifying signatures. Whose are these well-known musical themes: (a) "Good-Bye"; (b) "The Dipsy Doodle"; (c) "Nightmare"; (d) "My Twilight Dream"; (e) "Moonlight Serenade"; (f) "Thinking of You"; (g) "Sometimes I'm Happy"; (h) "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You"; (i) "Rhapsody in Blue"; (j) "Auld Lang Syne." If you miss more than two of these you ain't thinking.

* * *

4. The Normandie and the Queen Mary are the largest de luxe passenger liners in the world. They are tied up at the foot of 50th street in New York and will remain there until the end of the war. It would be impossible for them to slip away and enter into Oriental or South American service because only three harbors in the world are deep enough for them to dock in. Can you name the harbors?

* * *

5. Every time you go to the movies and see an MGM picture, you see and hear Leo, the MGM lion. Everyone has seen him scores of times. Right above Leo, while he growls and spits at you from the screen, is a Latin motto. What is it? This got only two correct answers out of 25 at a party the other night.

6. It was just 13 years ago today that a great national hero received a medal and an award of $25,000. Who was he, and why? If historical events mean anything to you this ought to be easy.

THINGS BEING AS THEY ARE

Listen, World!

There Is No Black, No White—Only Gray.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE is no black. There is no white. There is no absolute wrong. No hundred per cent right. There is only gray—only a mixture of goodness and badness.

And your whole life, as well as the life of your weak and erring neighbors, would be immensely simplified and glorified if you would accept that fundamental, spiritual fact.

But you won't.

You won't because you've been taught it isn't so—and you still refuse to accept evidence to the contrary.

As a tiny child you were taught that there were only two classes of people, and two kinds of behavior—Good People and Bad People; Good Behavior and Bad Behavior.

How were you to tell them apart? There would be no difficulty about that, they assured you. Badness and Goodness were so different that anyone with a clear conscience could tell them. All you needed to do was to keep your own conscience clear. Then, when you met a Bad Person, you'd know him quick as scat, and hate and despise him; and if you met a Good Person, you'd know her just as certainly, and love and respect her as she deserved.

Could anything be easier?

No, nothing could be easier, as Mama and Papa outlined it. Nor did it ever occur to your young mind that Life wouldn't run according to their simple specifications. Even now, though you've long since seen a thousand proofs that Mom and Dad were just fairy-taleing, you're still trying, probably, to make things run per schedule.

And of course it would be perfectly dandy if things would. What a snap life would be, and what a lot of trouble we'd be saved, if we could classify people like that! But we can't. And we'll only waste our time and break our own hearts, as well as the other fellow's, if we keep on trying.

For Humans aren't built that way.

People aren't made just good, just bad.

They're made mixed.

And the longer and harder they live, the more mixed they become.

Remember Ella Wheeler Wilcox's famous verse. How does it go? Something like this:

"There is so much good in the worst of us,
And so much bad in the best of us.
That it ill behooves any of us
To find fault with the rest of us."

You doubt that? You're quite sure that you've known Perfectly Good People and Utterly Bad Ones? You think of that fellow you signed a note for—that girl you helped when she was caught in such a jam—that—

Stop thinking of them and their ungrateful acts. If you want to prove this argument, all you need do is to THINK OF YOURSELF. Have you the courage to do it; to analyze your own behavior honestly, fearlessly? You have? Then go to it.

Think of the noblest thing you ever did. Was it really one hundred per cent right and good? Wasn't there just a little show-off conceit, a little selfishness, maybe a little laziness and cowardice, mixed in with all that righteousness?

Gwan; 'fess up! You're with friends! You know darned well there was. Try as you might, you've never been able to be Perfectly Splendid at any one moment. Always your Big Gestures were mixed up with a lot of secret squirmings and schemings which weren't so good.

However, things balance, thank goodness! You've done some pretty mean things, too, haven't you? But wasn't there many a decent impulse mixed in with that meanness? Sure there was!

THEN IF THAT'S TRUE OF YOU—WHY NOT GIVE THE OTHER FELLOW CREDIT FOR THE SAME DECENCY?

Editor News-Journal:

I note your editorial, "Ineffective Wisecracks," referring to New York police department. In this connection may I cite my experience with the Mansfield police department.

Taken sick suddenly, I was rushed to the Mansfield hospital where I remained more than a week. My car had been parked on the street and when I recovered enough to look into the situation I found that your police department had towed my car to a garage and it was turned back to me with the radio and accessories all in perfect condition. The polite manner in which Officer Watts handled this entire matter certainly merits my sincere commendation.

My home is in Chicago and I wish it were possible for some of our "wisecracking cops" to visit Mansfield and get a lesson in courtesy and efficiency from the Mansfield officers—in short we have "cops" in Chicago and you have police officers in Mansfield.

Many of us are quick to criticize and find fault—why not give credit where credit is due?

The nurses at the hospital also merit mention. If the nurses and the police officers are examples of the personnel of your town, may I state that you have a real place in which to live. Living in Chicago I work out of the Cleveland office of an Omaha concern, so I am in position to judge.

Explanation of Massage Treatment.

—By DR. CLENDENING

THERE are signs that the regular medical profession is taking up massage and other manipulative treatments. This is a good thing. There is no reason why the benefits of manipulation should remain exclusively in the hands of osteopaths and chiropractors. Massage should be taught in all medical schools and practitioners should use it oftener, either themselves or by sending the patient to a qualified masseur.

There are many erroneous conceptions of the effects of real massage. A "good" masseur is often thought to be one who gives the hardest treatment. This view is incorrect. Diametrically opposite effects may be obtained in giving massage. Sustained vibration between the scapulae will slow the pulse, while what is called "tapotement," rhythmically tapping in the same place, will quicken it.

Way It's Applied.

The results of massage depend entirely on the way in which it is applied. It may be sedative or stimulating, or even irritating.

There are five kinds of massage manipulations: (1) Effleurage, which is slow, gentle, rhythmic strokings. It may be deep or superficial. (2) Petrissage, kneading or compressing. (3) Friction, which consists of deep, circular, rolling movements, done with one or two fingers or part of the hand. (4) Tapotement, hacking, clapping, cupping or tapping, or beating a part, more or less rhythmically. (5) Vibration, which consists of vibratory movements imparted through the operator's fingers or hands by contractions of his arm and shoulder muscles. The last is one of the most useful forms of manipulation, but it is trying to the unskilled operator, and for that reason is not used enough.

What It's Used For.

Massage should be used for (1) muscular atrophy from any cause; (2) to increase metabolism; (3) to lessen scar tissue; (4) to assist circulation; (5) for sedation or stimulation of the nervous system; (6) to improve the skin and its functions.

There are certain things that massage will not do. We often hear claims made that massage will reduce weight. The most experienced masseurs with the best training state frankly that they cannot reduce weight by massage alone. The weight loss that occurs from massage is principally fluid lost through improved elimination, and is quickly replaced in the absence of other measures.

The fact that massage has persisted as a form of treatment through the ages is the best indication of its eternal value.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It is now possible to give a general summary of the Sumner Welles peace conversations. They form an important background to the Hitler-Mussolini conference and to the present crisis in which Hitler apparently offers the alternative of peace on his terms, or bloody warfare.

The first Welles conversation with Mussolini was entirely exploratory. The Italian premier impressed upon him the fact that Italy was a non-belligerent rather than a neutral, and had a very definite interest in the outcome of the war.

Italy believed (with Germany), Il Duce said, that if Welles and the Allies wanted to alleviate unrest and the semi-warfare which had disrupted Europe since the first World war, they must get down to the root cause of unrest—namely, raw materials.

Mussolini proceeded in some detail to tell how he had been forced to conduct a campaign in Ethiopia in order to get raw materials.

Mussolini said that he was quite sure Germany would be satisfied with the status quo (in other words, a peace permitting her to retain her victories over Poland and Czechoslovakia) and, he said, peace undoubtedly could be worked out along these lines.

Mussolini warned that the world should not be misled by Germany's scuttling of her own ships, which he said was no sign of weakness, but a consistent policy. It meant that Germany was ready to scuttle the entire Reich, if necessary.

Welles made no proposals to Mussolini, merely remarked that he was beginning his trip, was there to listen, and would come back for another talk later.

Note—Edda Ciano, daughter of the dictator and wife of the foreign minister, took Mrs. Welles on a tour of Rome, during which they bought some silks. On the whole, the trip started pleasantly.

Hitler Was Polite.

DIPLOMATIC observers expected Hitler to give Welles one of his usual long-winded, ill-tempered harangues.

No love had been lost between the two men in the past, for Welles, when acting secretary of state, several times had issued scathing statements against Der Fuehrer.

But on this occasion, Hitler was friendly and cordial. He talked in general terms, leaving the detailed discussion for Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop.

Germany wanted peace, Hitler said, but only on terms under which she could live. The world, he said, had arrived at a condition in which little nations could exist no longer—at least as economic units—though it was possible, perhaps, for them to survive as national units.

Therefore, Germany planned to co-operate with and absorb some of them economically.

This statement by Hitler had much to do with Roosevelt's message to the conference of foreign missions last week, in which he warned that there could be no sound peace "if small nations live in fear of powerful neighbors." This message created great rejoicing in London and Paris, and was admitted by Roosevelt's close advisers to be a rebuke to Hitler.

Ribbentrop's Details.

FOREIGN Minister von Ribbentrop spoke in detail.

One interesting point he made was that after the war, Great Britain would launch a vigorous drive to recapture its Latin American markets and squeeze out the United States. Therefore, the German foreign minister advised that the United States waste no time in exploiting Latin America immediately. This, he added, would meet the approval of Germany.

As Germany sees it, Ribbentrop continued, there is ample room in the world for all major countries. The United States can co-operate economically with South America. France and Italy can find outlets in North Africa. Great Britain's sphere of influence is in Asia, and Germany's area of exploitation is central and southeast Europe.

Then Ribbentrop outlined the Hitler plan for a Nazi economic empire based upon a federation of southeast European and Danubian states. The Czechs, Slovaks and Hungarians would set up a state under German protection, in which Germany would control the railroads, telegraphs, telephones and heavy industries.

The Balkan states would participate with Germany and Italy in an economic federation, in which customs barriers would be broken down, and raw materials would be exchanged for Germany's manufactured goods.

Poland was to be made a small independent state, with a large slice of the east given to Russia and the Corridor going to Germany. Austria was to remain permanently a part of Germany.

Daladier Not Pleased.

IN PARIS, Premier Daladier already knew about the German peace proposals. They had been outlined in general terms by unofficial diplomats many times before.

Bluff and blunt Daladier made no effort to conceal the fact that he was not pleased with the Welles mission. He drove home the point that France could not trust Hitler and that any peace which might be signed now would be a repetition of Munich.

Daladier particularly emphasized the fact that if peace was signed now, and Hitler violated it later, it would be impossible for France to mobilize her army. The French people, he said, were tired of mobilizing for half a peace. They wanted to get the war over, completely over, and then get back to their fields.

The reaction Welles got in England was identical. Chamberlain was in a position to remind him that he had gone further than any other chief of government in attempting to co-operate with Hitler, that he had accepted Hitler's word at Munich, but he could not accept it again. No peace, he said, was possible with Hitler.

But should Hitler step out of office and be replaced by a reasonable government in Berlin, then Great Britain was only too anxious for a fair peace, and one which would even take into account Germany's need of raw materials.

All in all, Welles sailed with very little optimism to report to his chief in the White House.

Angleworms

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT RAINED and fog rose slowly from the surface of the ground. I tramped upon the thick matted lawn turf and my shoes sank in an inch or more. The feel of frost was gone, and the sound of water soaking down, down, with little bubbles formed about the open spaces, gave assurance that winter had lost its grip.

This morning slimy trails criss-crossed the garden, the lawn and the edge of the pond. The rain had seeped into the open burrows of angleworms and flooded their homes completely. Evacuate or die, was the slogan of every self-respecting worm who valued his life. An army of at least 25,000 came to the surface of every acre and from the richer bottom land myriads more.

The value of these worms to the farmer cannot be estimated. They burrow from one to two feet into the earth and pull quantities of organic matter—dry leaves and grass—into their winter home. This humus darkens the subsoil and enriches it. When spring and growing season comes, this hole is a reservoir for water and a means of aeration when the water table falls.

This humble creature is a mill more important than the mechanical mills of man. Like the mills of the gods it grinds slowly and exceeding small. The thick-walled gizzard of the angleworm grinds up small stones and casts them upon the surface as free vital minerals for plants to feed upon. Worms plowed the surface of the earth long before man came to live upon it. They made the vast rich stretches of prairie grass, the lush sweet pastures and the thick greenness of lawns and meadows. Their castings upon the average acre of every field yield 7 tons of well-dried-silt each year. In time every portion of the soil will be eaten and digested by the ravenous quiet workers of the depths.

I used to despise the thought of being kin to him, but now I know that angleworms and farmers are fellow workers in the most important industry of the earth.

FIGHT FOR LOVE + + + + + + +

By SYLVIA TAYLOR
(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER XXV

"Not for me, thank you," Star replied.

"You haven't changed," Nina commented.

"Not about that," Star smiled.

The older woman lifted her glass.

"At least you won't object to my proposing a toast to your happiness. To you both, my dears!"

"To you," Bob repeated, looking at Star.

It was delightful to be with the Lamberts again. They were so different from any one else she had known.

Life seemed always to be at its most exciting point for Nina. Everything she did and said sounded romantic. Conversation sparkled about her. She had that rare faculty of putting people at their ease and making them appear at their best, Star decided, realizing that it was Nina who had always interested her more than Bob. Nina's son was an enthusiastic, less sophisticated copy of his mother. Warm-hearted and sympathetic. Unlike her, trying to live his theories. But lacking much of Nina's magnetism.

Star was fond of Bob but her affection was more maternal than it was that of a sweetheart. It would be impossible for her to suffer over Bob as she had over Milton.

Sitting beside him, listening to the conversation which rippled about her like sunny water, Star had to admit that life would be much less complicated if she did marry Bob. They would live in New York, which would eliminate the chance of having Mamie dropping in on them. Nina would visit them, of course, bringing in her train a flock of interesting people.

Star knew she would be secure. She could absorb herself in Bob's career and he would be a good husband. Unconsciously she had repeated Milton's words. Her heart contracted with an actual physical pain. How long would it take to forget Milton? How long before his name did not send a shock through every nerve in her body? Yet he had advised her to marry. Had pointed out that it would be the ideal solution.

All during the simple, delicious dinner Star was debating her answer to the question she knew Bob would ask. In a way she wanted to marry him. But even if she gave him all her loyalty would that be enough?

Suppose she told him the truth? She could imagine Bob's saying that she didn't know her own mind; of course, she loved him. Hadn't she loved him before he went away?

But although she had been preparing herself to answer Bob, it was Nina who insisted upon discussing it first When dinner was over, Nina suggested that they go up to the writing-room alone.

"I owe you an apology," Nina said frankly, closing the door. "And I want you to know that I am making it of my own free will. I love Bob more than anything in the world. I am more ambitious for him than I am for myself, and I will admit I had hoped he would make a brilliant marriage. But I also want him to be happy. And Star, he has convinced me that his love for you is not just a passing fancy."

"I am terribly sorry that I ever attempted to interfere. I treated you cruelly. Not because I didn't like you, but because where Bob is concerned I am first of all a mother."

"It's perfectly all right," Star assured her. "I don't blame you. I never did really blame you."

"I've behaved very badly," Nina said cheerfully. "But I intend to make it up to you now. I am not putting on an act as I was before. This time I mean it."

Star was compelled to smile. With all her sophistication there were moments when Nina Lambert was as naive as a child.

"You are very kind," Star hesitated. "And I appreciate it, but—"

Was it fair to tell Nina how she felt? Wouldn't it be better to make her confession to Bob?

Nina herself answered this question by crying, "All right then, that settles it. I've worried a lot about this, Star. It hurt to see my boy so unhappy and know that it was my own fault. And now I'm going to let you go downstairs without me. The time is so short you'll need every minute of it."

Star descended the stairs slowly. Glancing into her old room as she passed, wishing she could feel as she used to when she lived here. Telling herself she would take what Bob offered. It was her chance. She would be a fool to pass it up. She would not spoil his happiness by telling him about Milton but without reservations she would give her heart and future into Bob's keeping.

Bob was in the living-room smoking a cigarette which he put out as she entered. With a gesture of confidence which touched her he held out his arms.

"Star, darling, Nina has felt terribly all summer Have you forgiven her?"

"There was nothing to forgive," she answered.

He led her to the davenport and drew her down beside him.

"We've so much to talk about. It doesn't seem true that I've found you again. I'm leaving for New York tomorrow night. Would it be possible for you to go along?"

She opened her lips to say yes. She had made up her mind to do so but suddenly the face of Milton Wood, grim and lonely, swam before her eyes.

"I can't," she stammered. "Bob, darling, I'm sorry because I want to marry you. Really I do. I mean I've everything to gain by doing it. But I don't just feel the way I used to."

He smiled and kissed her tenderly on the cheek.

"It's very sudden, I know. But you do love me, Star?"

"Not the way I should," she admitted.

His expression changed. She hated to see the disappointment which clouded his eyes.

"Do you mean there is some one else?"

Star nodded.

"Yes, there is. I'm sorry."

It sounded utterly inadequate. It was not at all what she had planned, but she knew now she could not do it.

Bob said sadly, "I see. If only Nina hadn't interfered. We'd have been married by now."

"But your mother was right," Star insisted. "It wouldn't have worked. Please don't blame her. I was flattered and dazzled by your proposal, but I didn't know then what love was."

She hated herself for hurting Bob. She could not bear to see the disappointment in his eyes yet her answer had been forced from her by a power beyond her control.

He said, "You're sure, Star? You're not just saying this to retaliate?"

She replied, "No I wouldn't do that, Bob."

"Are you engaged to him?" he demanded.

She shook her head.

"Then I still have a chance?" he cried, brightening.

"I never intend to marry any one," she faltered.

"You think that now but you'll change your mind about that just as you have about marrying me. You are too young to make such a statement and mean it. If you aren't going to marry this other man I refuse to stop hoping. But gosh, darling, how can I win you again when I am so far away?"

He was optimistic and boyish. Unable to be downcast long about anything even the loss of Star.

"I'm afraid it's no use, Bob dear! You mustn't expect something which can't possibly happen."

"Anything can happen and usually does," he contradicted. "I'm not going to give you up until you actually have the other chap's ring on your finger."

In the midst of their discussion Nina, who could never stay out of any situation, called from the stairway, "May I come in for a moment?"

When she saw the expression on her son's face, her own changed.

"What's the matter? You two aren't quarrelling?"

"Star doesn't love me any more," Bob confessed.

"Why, Star," Nina began, but he stopped her. "Don't try to argue about it, Nina, please! Star knows what she wants."

"But why didn't you tell me that when we were talking upstairs?" Nina demanded.

"I couldn't, Mrs. Lambert. Oh, I am so fond of you both," Star said unhappily. "I'll do anything else in the world for you."

"This is all my fault," Nina said soberly.

"But it isn't. You couldn't help my falling in love with some one else."

"So that's it. There's some one else now. Are you going to marry him-"

Determined not to indicate who it was, Star said, "No, but I can't marry Bob."

She had expected Nina to be secretly relieved at her decision, but she seemed far from it.

Bob took Star home. On the way his spirits recovered sufficiently for him to say hopefully. "Everything is going to come out all right. Don't you worry, Star. I'll be home for Chirstmas and I'm going to write. . . ."

Showdown Near Over Foreign Sale of U. S. War Planes

ALLIES EVINCE KEEN INTEREST IN NEW SHIP

Secret Device Gives Plane Top Speed But Permission to Export It Held Up.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Keen allied interest in a seven-mile-a-minute American warplane may accelerate a showdown in the administration's policy on foreign purchases of aircraft.

The fighter is the army air corps' P-38, a heavily-armed, two-motor Lockheed which the war department has just released—and it has a secret device without which the plane cannot make top speed.

It appeared likely that the question of the P-38 might be raised when the house military committtee opens its investigation of warplane purchases next week. The inquiry was postponed unexpectedly yesterday because of the inability of Secretary of War Woodring to appear.

How far negotiations on the P-38 have progressed was not clear. Specific types were not mentioned when Arthur B. Purvis, head of the British-French purchasing mission, reported continuing discussions for the acquisition of a potential $1,000,000,000 worth of American planes.

Informed aviation sources pointed out that any negotiations for a substantial order of P-38 planes seemed likely to involve the question of the administration's policy.

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, emphasized that the secret device—probably a supercharger—had not been released for export. On Tuesday President Roosevelt said military secrets which other nations could not duplicate would be kept confidential as long as possible.

The allies have shown an interest in acquiring numbers of the P-38 as an answer to Germany's newest and fastest two-motored fighter, a Messerschmitt 111, credited with ability to approach 400 miles an hour.

It was a 379-mile-an-hour, two-motored Messerschmitt 110, a less advanced model, which Nazis said scored heavily in repelling a British raid on Helogoland last December. Berlin officials claimed that 34 of 52 British bombers were shot down.

A section of the guard rail pierced the floorboard of the car, missing Shafer by inches.

City Orders New Water Lines Laid At Depth of 4 Feet

Water lines laid in Mansfield in the future must be at a depth of four feet under revised regulations announced today by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

In the past, water lines constructed on public streets have been laid at a depth of three and a half feet.

Crafton pointed out that contractors and private builders have laid water lines without first ascertaining from the city engineer the official grade level. The established grade level may be considerably lower or higher than that of present streets, he said. In the future every person having water lines laid must consult the city engineer's office for official grade levels, Crafton added.

The water lines must be new pipe, constructed with tight joints. No plumber or property owner is permitted to make taps on lines. This work is done only by the city water department, Crafton said.

The revised regulations set up the size of pipe to be used and an established price to be paid for inspection of trench and repaving or refinishing a street after the line is laid.

THUG USES TAXI

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—A man walked into a Cincinnati cafe and asked the proprietor to call a taxicab for him.

Then he went to Joseph Fabe's drug store nearby and took $16 from the cash register while holding off employes and customers with a pistol.

In a moment, his taxicab drove up and the robber got in. The driver of the cab said he let the man out in downtown Cincinnati.

BALL CLUBS TO FACE OHIO TAX

Mansfield Braves Would Be Assessed Under New State Ruling.

Officials of the Mansfield Braves baseball club, a member of the Ohio State league, were confronted today with a state ruling subjecting them to pay a three-mill tax on the club franchise and player contracts.

The ruling, made by State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt, was prompted by the Allen county auditor who is seeking to levy both taxes against the Lima Pandas, a member of the Ohio State loop. It also affects the Cleveland Indians, Cincinnati Reds, American association and Mid-Atlantic league clubs owned in Ohio, and other members of the Ohio State circuit.

Joe C. Hartline, president of the Mansfield club, was not available for comment on the ruling, but C. L. Mitchell, first vice president, estimated the value of the Braves' franchise at $12,000. Mitchell made no comment on the new rule. There are no records to prove the value of the Mansfield club, Mitchell said.

LENTEN SPEAKER SAYS CHRIST'S LIFE EXAMPLE OF PERFECTION

Addressing an audience of about 300, Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, delivered a Lenten sermon on the subject, "Behold the Man," at the noonday Holy week service at the First Lutheran church today.

"Christ is called Rabbi and teacher over 50 times in New Testament," Rev. Sheriff said. He gave the world the most wonderful principles and teachings, and His philosophy of life has produced the most holy and sublime characters.

"Christ taught authoritatively and by the power of His own divine personality astounded His hearers. He taught with an earnestness and enthusiasm never before equalled. They said He 'spake as never man spake.' Christ was supreme in His mighty life. He performed mighty works, great miracles and went about doing good.

"His life is an example of holiness and perfection. His sinlessness is attested not only by His friends but also by his enemies. Christ rises in unapproachable glory not only above patriarchs, prophets and kings, but above angels, seraphs and archangels. He surpasses all men who have risen in moral grandeur to bless this world.

"Behold the man in the sublime tragedy of the cross. As we follow Him through the last eventful days of His life we feel the impress of His personality." Rev. Sheriff stated. "On the cross surrounded by indifference and cruelty, in the midst of agony and suffering we notice the dignity and charm of His character. He never loses His complete self-possession. His full mastery of ever faculty of mind."

Mrs. Charles F. Sheriff sang "This Holy Hour," as the offertory solo. Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the Main Street Evangelical church, was devotional leader for the service.

Tomorrow, Good Friday, two union services will be held, one at the First Lutheran church and the other at the First Presbyterian church.

Legion Boy Scout Troop Marks 3rd Birthday at Dinner

About 120 parents and friends attended the third anniversary dinner and program of the American Legion Boy Scout troop No. 16 last night at the Legion home.

Reports of activities for the past year, installation of troop officials and presentation of the 1940 troop charter featured the meeting which was preceded by a dinner given by McVey Post.

The troop's 1940 charter was presented to Legion Commander R. M. James by L. A. Ott, president of the Johnny Appleseed area, and installation of troop officials was conducted by Floyd Dent, area scout executive, and C. I. Kimmel, area commissioner. Troop officials include Fred Elder, scoutmaster; Sam Fox and F. O. Cupp, assistants, and R. M. James, J. G. Blahnik, H. D. Bishop, Ray Jenkins, P. B. Pecht, Dr. L. H. Bachrach and P. C. Davis, members of the troop committee.

One new member, Earl Auxter, was taken into the troop, and Fred Elder, jr., the troop's first Eagle Scout, was presented a "Merit Award," the highest award a Legion post can give. A five-year service award was given Robert Jones, and three-year service awards were given 20 charter members of the troop. In recognition of his service Scoutmaster Elder was presented a bed roll for hiking by the Legion post.

SHIP OWNED BY EX-PRISONER OF NAZIS SINKING

Mysterious Hole in Hull Causes Freighter to Go Down at Baltimore Dock.

BULLETIN

BALTIMORE —(INS)— Fears that a badly-flooded 27,000-ton cargo liner, the Panamanian, might sink at her pier were alleviated today when Fred Kipp, Baltimore harbor engineer, announced that the stern was resting on bottom and the vessel probably could be righted.

(By International News Service)

BALTIMORE — The 27,000-ton cargo liner Panamanian, owned by Arnold Bernstein, Jewish shipping magnate who was imprisoned for two years by Adolf Hitler while all his vessels were confiscated, is sinking in Baltimore harbor.

The ship, believed to be the largest cargo vessel in the world, began shipping water through a mysteriously-received hole in her hull this morning.

By the time the Panamanian was discovered to be sinking, the engine rooms were partly flooded, making impossible her scheduled departure tonight with a 15-ton cargo for the British Isles.

Reports of sabotage immediately swept the waterfront, while city and harbor police and firemen sought to discover the origin of the hole in the hull.

Fire Chief Howard Travers sped to the Locust Point dock where the Panamanian was loading and, after a quick survey, announced that the ship was going down at the rate of about a foot an hour. Loading at the Locust Point dock virtually had been completed, and the vessel had been scheduled to proceed to a deeper anchorage to complete taking on cargo.

Travers said that, if sailors on board the ship attempting to stem the leak were unsuccessful, a fireboat would bring hoses into play to pump the water out and at least hold down the level of water in the vessel's hull.

Bernstein, after losing all his steamships and paying a fine of $400,000—in addition, his friends paid $30,000 to the Hitler government to obtain his release—came to the United States, straight from a Nazi prison camp, last September.

On his arrival in the United States, the 61year-old Bernstein said he would attempt to rebuild his fortune and reputation as a shipping man. That he was successful in doing this was indicated by the announcement Tuesday that the Panamanian, flagship in a new line formed by him, would depart tonight on a voyage to England through the submarine-infested North Atlantic.

Miss Downing died in Florida early this week and was buried in Battle Ground, Ind., where her aged mother resides. Miss Downing had been in ill health for some time. She went to Florida last fall to spend the winter.

For many years she was a reader in the First Church of Christ Scientist, and in recent years was a Christian Science practitioner.

STARTS PROBE

Congressman Arrives to Open Mine Blast Investigation.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE—(U.P.)—Representative Bradley (D-Mich.), opened a preliminary survey today of the Willow Grove coal mine where a blast claimed 71 lives last Saturday.

Bradley, a member of the house mine and mining subcommittee, awaited arrival of Reps. Winter (R-Kansas) and Peterson, (D-Fla.) before opening a formal inquiry tomorrow.

Bradley repeated that the primary purpose of the investigation was to determine whether the catastrophe could have been averted had the proposed Neely-Keller bill, requiring yearly federal mine inspections, been a law. If possible, he added, the committee would determine the cause of the explosion.

STRASBURG, Va.—(AP)—Signal Knob, picturesque mountain landmark where patrols observed troop movements during the war between the states, is living up to its name nowadays. An airline beacon has been put on the knob. But pilots on the Washington-Cincinnati run, unaware of the beacon's historical significance, just call it "Site No. 34."

Communists Serve Ultimatum That 'We'll Tell All' in Move to Block Quiz.

sational revelations will crash newspaper front pages.

Dozenberg now is being held incommunicado by federal officials in New York City, awaiting sentence for passport frauds. He is a founder of the communist party in this country and is characterized as "the No. 2 communist in the United States."

(The No. 1 communist is Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party, who on Jan. 22 last was sentenced to serve four years in a federal penitentiary and fined $2,000 after he was convicted by a jury of using an American passport fraudulently obtained.)

Dozenberg, prior to his arrest on the passport frauds charge, had been living quietly in Washington as a business man. It is claimed that he had many contacts with various departments in the federal government.

The New York Journal and American recently revealed that Mrs. Frances Dallant, wife of Dozenberg by a second marriage, was a confidential stenographer from 1933 to 1935 in the office of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and now is employed by the social security board in Washington. She has held numerous other government positions. She is an American citizen.

The secret service, according to International News Service's informant, has been investigating the Dozenbergs for some time and have found that Dozenberg was getting military secrets and general information of value to the Soviet government.

It is charged by a person in close touch with the situation that Dozenberg threatened that if he were prosecuted for a major offense, he would "spill the beans" and expose government officials with whom he has been in contact.

Army Says Ex-Soldiers Under 36 Eligible to Enlist.

All former soldiers in the regular U. S. Army who are under 36 years old and have been honorably discharged after one year of service are eligible to enlist in the regular army reserves, it was announced today from the recruiting office in Akron.

Enlistment in the army reserve is for a period of four years. Members are paid $2 per month, payable every four months. No training is required and the reserve member will be called to active duty only in the event of a national emergency declared by the president.

If he is in active service the reserve soldier will receive an additional $3 per month for every month that he has been a member of the army reserve, but not to exceed a total of $150.

Former service men interested in enlistment may obtain information from Sergt. George A. Keeling, U. S. Army recruiting office, Old Postoffice building, Akron.

REYNAUD FORMS NEW CABINET

nac, air, and Raoul Dautry, armament.

Socialists in the chamber of deputies, after receiving a report from former socialist premier Leon Blum on three of their group chosen for ministerial posts and three others as undersecretaries, approved the selections by a vote of 80 to seven.

Pressed for speed, Reynaud tried to steer France quickly past her first cabinet crisis of the war while the nation kept a wary eye on Germany.

A speedy solution to the crisis created by the resignation of Premier Edouard Daladier and his cabinet yesterday was urged both by the press and in parliamentary circles lest Adolf Hitler seize it as a chance for another "March surprise."

They reminded the premier-designate that at another moment when France was leaderless—when the government of Camille Chautemps resigned in 1938—Hitler started in Austria the German territorial expansion which eventually plunged Europe into war.

Sources close to Reynaud, finance minister and No. 2 man in Daladier's cabinet, said he hoped to have a new administration ready for a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies tomorrow.

The designation of peppery, 61-year-old Reynaud, whose reorganization of French finances is rated as one of the greatest achievements of the Daladier cabinet, was well-received in parliament.

As a member of the left-Republican party, Reynaud is slightly to the right politically.

QUEEN MARY OFF TO SHIP TROOPS

assigned to transport troops between Australia and the Near East, where Great Britain and France are massing a great army already estimated at 1,000,000 men.

The Queen Mary cast loose the lines which had held her to the Cunard White Star line's pier since Sept. 4 at 8:22 a. m.

Speculation at the pier was that the Queen would follow the Mauretania's suit and drop anchor off Ambrose Light after she clears the harbor and there open sealed orders containing detailed instructions for proceeding to her destination.

The huge liner, it was believed, was unarmed when she left the harbor. British circles said American laws prohibited placement of guns while she was in port. There was speculation, however, that she might receive anti-aircraft and anti-submarine guns somewhere at sea from another vessel.

Neither the Cunard White Star line nor other British sources would discuss the ship departures but it was believed the Mauretania and the Queen Mary sailed under sealed orders "down under," possibly to Sydney, Australia.

Both the Mauretania and Queen Mary were painted wartime gray. The Mauretania had been here since Dec. 16 and the Queen Mary since Sept. 4.

PERENNIAL WAR RAGES ON INDIA FRONTIER

Fakir's Sharpshooting 'Army' Costs British Many Million Pounds.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Britain's 75-year war—temporarily eclipsed by the "other war" on the Rhine—flared up anew today.

The conflict was being waged along a 1,000-mile front and over a "battlefield" roughly embracing 26,000 square miles. The foe consisted of the most deadly sharpshooters since the days of Buffalo Bill and Billy the Kid.

The battleline was India's Northwest Frontier. In the last 75 years, Britain has fought no less than twenty-seven major campaigns in this area, plus seventy-five raids and small expeditions.

Warfare has flamed in this area for three years. Then smouldered, died out. Only to flame again. Through the smoke and ambuscades and caverns of the mountain chains emerged and vanished intermittently the wizened figure and bright red hair of Haji Hirza Ali Khan. Better known as the Fakir of Ipi, chief gadfly on this flank of the British empire.

Expensive War.

The Fakir's "holy war," as he has proclaimed it, has cost India and Britain several million pounds sterling. A field force of 37,000 men was needed to overawe the Wazirs—chief partisans of the Fakir.

This force was by no means the largest ever mobilized against bloodthirsty tribesmen on the frontier. Seventy thousand troops took the field in the 1897 campaign.

The area of conflict is bounded by the Durand Line, serving as India's frontier, and the borders of Afghanistan. In it live half a million armed tribesmen. Seldom if ever do all of them take the warpath at one time.

Since 1924 British troops have been permanently quartered in garrisons at strategic points throughout these tribal areas. Many roads were built for purposes both of military strategy and civilization.

British May Attack.

But the British government may take the offensive. Military and civil authorities were in consultation.

Britain has never occupied the area, disarmed the tribesmen and introduced a civilized administration for several reasons.

Such an occupation would mean tremendous expense and a war of attrition. It might create complications with Afghanistan. Kinsmen of the Wazirs, Mahsuds and other tribes live across the border.

On the other hand, if the army withdrew behind the Durand Line and left the tribes to themselves, there would be the risk that all the tribes might combine, as in 1897, for the purpose of trying to invade the rich plains of India.

PASSENGERS ON LOOK-OUT DUTY

Keep Watch For Mines and Subs On Board British Ships.

LONDON — (INS) — Passengers traveling in British liners are today contributing to their safety by taking turns at look-out duty on deck.

A constant day and night watch for mines or enemy submarines has been kept by the crew of all British liners on the high seas since the outbreak of war.

And the help given by passengers is greatly appreciated and highly praised by British commanders.

HUNTINGTON, Ind. — (U.P.) — Mayor Foster E. Cutshall believes that he has ended the drinking of one man who was haled into his court on a drunkenness charge. The mayor sent autographed photographers of the man to all liquor dealers warning them against selling him liquor.

AUTO MEN SPAR OVER NEW LAW

Bill Would Forbid Change in Speedometer Readings on Used Cars.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—Governmental regulation of the automobile industry, either through the enactment of a new law or the application to the retailing division of a code of ethics proposed by the federal trade commission, is dividing considerable thought among the men who make and distribute motorcars.

Now in progress is a referendum by the National Automobile Dealers' association among retailers on a proposed new regulatory law that would be known as "the motor vehicles industry act of 1940."

Set for another hearing in Washington on March 20 is the federal trade commission's proposed code for the distributing division of the industry.

In both the proposed new legislation and the federal trade commission's suggest code considerable wordage is devoted to emphasizing the ban on any practice that might "mislead or tend to confuse" prospective purchasers as to the price of vehicles delivered at the dealer's place of business. Both proposals have clauses forbidding the changing of speedometer readings on used cars offered for sale.

The Patman bill would require the delivery with each new car sold at retail an itemized invoice This same proposal has been eliminated from the federal trade commission code.

Regardless of whether the federal trade commission proposals are approved or rejected by representatives of the trade there is bound to be dissatisfaction in some quarters. The same is true of the "motor vehicles industries act," both measures having precipitated a sharp division among among the dealers as well as objection from manufacturers.

Outguess Easter Skies In Fashions From Local Shops

Judging from his actions so far this week, it looks as though the weatherman might be kind enough to furnish sunny skies for Easter Sunday. But in any event, the winds probably will be quite chill, so if you haven't selected your promenade outfit yet, perhaps it would be best to choose one for both style and warmth. Mansfield stores still have a goodly supply of costume ensembles and accessories to fill your needs, and a few of the fashions are being shown on this page. If you desire further information about the items described, you may obtain it by calling The News-Journal, Canal 1251. In the first picture above, Miss Eileen Logan is wearing a dusty rose wool dress with matching jacket. The skirt of the frock features front fullness and hipline pockets, while red fox trims the bolero. A Breton sailor of navy blue rough straw edged with dusty rose braid, navy shoes and gloves complete Miss Logan's outfit. The shoes in the second photograph combine tan and brown alligator in a style with high cuban heels, open toes and shank. Another type of bolero ensemble is being modeled by Miss Kay Baker in the third picture. Her one-piece dress is fashioned with a white blouse and beige crepe skirt, tied at the waist with a red and white polka dot sash. The same dotted material lines the beige bolero and forms a perky corsage on the shoulder. Miss Baker's hat of red straw has for trimming a black taffeta band to blend with her black patent leather purse and shoes. She is carrying a beige tweed swagger coat topped with a fluffy fox collar. The step-in pumps of picture four are made from elasticized brown gabardine trimmed with genuine lizard and feature the new pyramid heels. The fifth photograph shows Miss Beverly Schwein wearing a three-piece wardrobe suit. The short fitted jacket is shadow striped in shades of rose, green and gray, while the longer swagger coat and skirt are of gray wool. The striped material of the jacket is used on the lapels of the topper, and Miss Schwein models a white pique blouse with the ensemble. Her sailor hat, designed by Sally Victor, is a gray felt, trimmed with grosgrain ribbon. The other accessories are of black. There's some close color harmony in the trousers and jacket Joseph Dean is wearing in the sixth picture. His teal blue tweed coat has a diagonal weave, and his trousers of plain green gabardine blend with it. The pork pie hat Mr. Dean is showing is a gray-blue tone, as is his tie. The two-tone gray shoes of picture seven are of calfskin, with wing tips and perforated toes. Wade Gerhart's sport outfit in the eighth picture features a tan sweater vest with a three button sport coat in mixed shades of brown and rusty brown trousers. His lapel handkerchief matches the red and white pattern tie, and his broad brimmed hat is a rusty brown felt. Mr. Gerhart is carrying a grey tweed topcoat (made with set-in shoulders and fly front) and deer skin gloves.

Less Than Fourth Of Drivers Here Have 1940 Plates

More than 8,000 license plates must be sold within the next eight days if Mansfield motorists keep abreast of their March purchases last year. Of the total 17,000 passenger auto plates sold last year, about 12,000 were sold before April 1 when the new plates must be displayed on cars.

The sale of 1940 plates at the Richland county club today reached 4,081, an increase of 1,303 over the same period last year, according to Jack R. Berger, assistant secretary. Last year for the same period the sale of passenger plates was 2,778.

According to these figures, less than a third of the drivers have obtained the new tags.

More than 15,000 passenger and truck and trailer plates have been received at the office here. Berger reported that the sale of truck and trailer plates was "very slow." Offices of the auto club are open daily except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

In Columbus, Cylon W. Wallace, registrar at the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, said that a $25 fine awaits all motorists that do not have their license plates on their cars on April 1. March 31 is the final date for use of 1939 plates, and after that date no one has an authority to grant leniency, he pointed out.

"The fine and arrest is obligatory, being imposed by a state law of several years standing, and will be enforced just as rigidly this year as in the past," he said.

Senate's Farm Vote Today Wipes Out Budget Savings

ECONOMY BLOC DESERTED ON PARITY ISSUE

Taft's Appeal to Sacrifice to Balance U. S. Budget Stirs Hot Debate.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate wipes out most of the previous savings in 1941 budget estimates today when it approves a $923,000,000 agriculture department appropriation bill carrying $212,000,000 in parity payments for farmers and at least $85,000,000 for continuance of the surplus commodities program.

The major farm bill issue—parity payments—was settled late yesterday when the farm bloc deserted the economy drive to add the unbudgeted $212,000,000 to the bill by a vote of 63 to 19.

The only remaining major issue before a final vote is a provision by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, Prog., Wis., to increase the surplus commodities fund to $113,000,000.

The senate bill now stands $208,968,584 above the amount approved by the house and $201,940,049 above Mr. Roosevelt's "bed rock" budget estimate. If passed at its present figure it will wipe out most of the $300,000,000 savings effected by the house so far in other appropriations. It was considered certain that the house would uphold the senate increases.

Yesterday's vote on addition of parity payments fund to the farm bill found only 12 Republicans and seven Democrats opposed to it. Among the Republicans were Sens. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., and Robert A. Taft, R., O., both leading contenders for the Republican presidention nomination this year.

Debate yesterday was marked by argument between Taft and Sen. Tom Connally, D., Tex., over New Deal policies. Taft said that the government was plunging toward bankruptcy by borrowing more than its income, and that all groups, including farmers, should sacrifice to balance the budget.

"The senator from Ohio, when he sees some farmer with the seat of his pants out and his hair sticking up through a hole in his hat says: 'There's a fellow we're giving a bounty to and we've got to stop it,'" Connally replied.

"All this talk about the budget is like that old song, 'everybody goin' to heaven ain't gettin' there.' I bet the senator from Ohio ain't balanced his budget. All these people who talk about it probably don't know how to budget and don't know how to balance."

Akron Youth, 19, Faces Life Term For Dad's Death

AKRON —(INS)— James D. Hill, jr., 19-year-old Eagle Scout, today faced a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary for the murder of his father.

Hill was sentenced to life late yesterday when his attorneys withdrew his plea of not guilty to first-degree murder and entered a plea of guilty to second-degree murder.

The plea was changed after a venire of 50 prospective jurors had been exhausted and only 11 seated to try Hill. A conference between defense attorneys and Prosecutor Alva J. Russell followed, and the plea of guilty to the lesser crime was submitted to Common Pleas Judge Oscar A. Hunsicker, who passed sentence.

Russell, in recommending acceptance of the plea, said that it would have been virtually impossible to obtain a verdict carrying the death penalty.

Hill, a "model youth," shot and killed his father, a cement finisher, as he slept, late last December. When the youth admitted the crime, he said he hated the senior Hill because "he was mean to my mother and my two brothers."

Up and Down THE STREET

Members of the Red Masque club at Senior high school had a sweet tooth yesterday whether they liked it or not, and all at the expense of 14 new members recently received into the organization. Initiation of these new members was held yesterday and initiation ceremonies demanded among other things, that every time a candidate met an old member, identified by a piece of red ribbon, he had to give him a piece of candy. The new members were identified by a red mask and a corsage of vegetables which they had to wear to classes.

John Fuller of the city's service department, spent last week-end with his family at Brookville, Pa., home of the annual Laurel Festival. Fuller's father is superintendent of Allegheny National Forest park of 49,000 acres, and the reservation abounds in wildlife. Fuller brought back pictures of three tiny cubs, each weighing about ten pounds, and so sleepy in their hibernation that they couldn't hold up their heads long enough to "look at the "birdie." One picture shows the mother bear hibernating in the hollow of an old charred tree. So deep is her coma that her cubs can be taken away from her without arousing her. But they are always put back because the reservation laws protect them.

Has anyone got any old maps of Mansfield that will show when changes were made in the corporate boundaries of the city, from 1825 on? Harold K. Mansfield, who is director of the Real Property inventory here, would like to see them to help in compiling a map showing all additions from that time to the present. Anyone who can help may reach Mansfield at Spring 2325.

Since the dedication of the John Simpson junior high school building last Friday night, members of the school faculty have been trying to find out who sent the dozen of red carnations that decorated the room of Miss Katherine Culp. Nearly every teacher received at least one basket for his room from a friend, but who sent the carnations to Miss Culp is still the school mystery. All that was written on the card was, "From one who cares."

HEART ATTACK KILLS PAINTER

Cleveland Banker Who Won Davey's Pardon Order, Stricken at 73.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Kenyon V. Painter, 73, banker and big game hunter, died last night.

Ill for several years, his condition had been regarded as serious for the last two months. He succumber to a heart attack.

Painter was pardoned by former Gov. Martin L. Davey in October, 1937, after serving four months of a 1-to-30 year term in the Ohio penitentiary for misapplication of more than $2,000,000 in Union Trust company funds. He was a director and the largest stockholder of the bank. He had fought the case to the United States supreme court.

Davey said at the time physicians had informed him the banker was a hopeless invalid as a result of a heart disease.

His pardon, with charges that he received preferential treatment, led to an investigation of the Ohio parole situation. Herbert S. Duffy, former state attorney general, impaneled a special grand jury, but the plan to summon Painter was dropped after the attorney general's office attempted vainly for two months to serve a subpena on him.

The Union Trust did not reopen after the 1933 bank holiday and has since been in process of liquidation. Painter explained most of the two million had been used to buy Union Trust stock to keep its market value up.

EAGLES ASK STATE LAW TO HALT LURING OF PUPILS FROM SCHOOL

The Mansfield Aerie No. 336 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles today had proposed state legislation that would prohibit the removal of pupils from the public schools by anyone other than the child's parents.

Copies of the resolution adopted by the aerie at a meeting last night will be sent to Ralph C. Lutz, Richland county representative, and P. H. Rogers of Grafton, state senator from this district, urging them to sponsor legislation in the state assembly for the protection of school children.

The resolution was drawn up by the resolutions committee of the lodge headed by Atty. C. J. Kalbfleisch.

The resolution says:

"By reason of the fact that there have been numerous cases of contributing to the delinquency and actual murder developing from situations arising from the apparent ease with which children can be taken from the custody of the teachers and school authorities," the resolution said, "we advocate the passage of legislation to the end that children cannot be removed from school without the presence of one or both the parents, or that the child be accompanied by a responsible person when emergency demands that such child be taken from school during the regular school period."

Similar action was taken by Boyd Robinson, county superintendent of schools, several weeks ago following tthe murder of a Lexington school girl who was lured from her classroom by a hired man on her parents farm and slain.

Robinson ordered that pupils were not to be released from school except upon written request from the parents, with their signatures to correspond with those on file in the superintendent's office.

George Call, Sharon township PWA worker, who was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary Jan. 13 for an assault on a Bellville high school girl, admitted that he had attempted to lure a 14-year-old Butler high school girl from her classroom last fall but was unsuccessful. Call, who confessed molesting other school girls in the county, is serving a three-to-20 year term.

SPECULATION ON PRESIDENT RACE FLARES AGAIN

Influential New Dealer Sees Statement Indicative That Roosevelt Will Retire.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Talk of a Hull-Farley Democratic ticket was revived on Capitol Hill today as discussion of the Postmaster General's unreserved announcement of his candidacy ran the gamut of interpretations.

Most senators expressed the opinion that the cabinet officer, in saying flatly his name would be presented to the Democratic national convention, did so believing that President Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term.

A few, talking privately, interpreted the announcement as placing Farley in the same category as Vice President Garner—a candidate whether the president runs or not. Farley would not clear up this point in talking to reporters yesterday at Springfield, Mass.

One influential New Deal senator from the east, as close to the chief executive as anyone in congress, said he did not know what was in the president's mind but he thought Farley had acted in the belief that Mr. Roosevelt wanted to retire

"I believe a Hull-Farley ticket would make a good ticket," added this senator. Like many others, he felt Farley was not challenging the president and had not closed the door to supporting Mr. Roosevelt should the latter run.

Garner forces, however, expressed private elation over Farley's action They voiced the opinion that Farley was in the race to stay, third term candidacy or not.

But any hope which the Garnerites might have held for a coalition of forces to "stop Roosevelt" appeared to have been blasted by Farley's statement that he was "in no combination with anybody."

One southern senator, preferring not to be quoted by name, said Farley told him he had obtained the distinct impression at a White House conference that the president wanted to retire, but had not heard the chief executive say he would not accept the nomination if tendered.

ACQUIRES DAIRY

Borden Company Takes Over Levering's April 1.

Acquisition of the Levering Dairy, 74 South Diamond street, by the Borden company, was announced today by Martin L. Levering, co-founder of the Mansfield concern.

Levering, who founded the dairy in 1926 in partnership with his father, J. B. Levering, now retired, will remain as manager when the new ownership becomes effective April 1, the announcement stated.

"The change will not affect our policies and we plan no changes in personnel," Levering said. "Since Mansfield's health department regulations are strict, all of our present milk producers will be able to meet the Borden company inspection standards, and we will continue to obtain our entire milk supply from the farms that have supplied us in the past," he added.

Although the Borden company has a number of ice cream outlets in Richland county, this will be the first venture here in milk distribution.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

The "DuBarry Was a Lady" Dope-Sheet.

Ann Graham, the blonde beauty (a one-time F. Tone heartbeat) and Norman Krasna, the film writer, are suddenly yum, yum. . . . Sam Ledner, the stage manager, has been coming to the theater in white tie and tails, which gives you an idea what a hit the show is. . . . Beverly Hosier and her new bridegroom were hurt in an auto crackup. She arrived at the theater cut and bleeding, but got patched up and went on with the show in the fine old tradition of a Warner Brothers musical. . . . Virginia Cheneval can tell you exactly how many days it is until June, when her real honey is coming all the way from Texas to be with her on her birthday.

Jean Moorhead, who plays the cigaret girl in the show, can look at her wares but can't smoke them—not even offstage. She's just recovering from an attack of grippe, and her doctor has forbidden cigarets. . . .

Now that the show has been running for three months, Bert Lahr and Ethel Merman are gilding their parts at almost every performance with some of the town's naughtiest ad libs.

Someone has put a sign up over the entrance to the card room; "Through these portals pass the biggest chumps in the world."

To-Do at "Too Many Girls."

Bill Bleese, who inherited Eddie Bracken's role, inherited all the Bracken traditions, too. Eddie used to kiss all the chorus girls hello as a nightly routine, and Bill holds that what was good enough for Eddie is good enough for him. So the osculation goes on as usual.

Van Johnson has been screen tested, which means he may have a part in the Hollywood version of the campus capers. . . . Show-must-go-on-stuff goes on here, too. This week's heroine was Anna Mae Teslow, known as "Tessie," who went on Saturday night with a severe attack of pleurisy.

Some of the best performances at the Imperial are put on without an audience, at around seven o'clock on matinee days. Chief "sender" in these jam sessions is Hal LeRoy, who rounds up some of the musicians and leads them from the piano, trumpet, or drums. Alice Craig takes over the drums when Hal dances, and when Hal dances a peeping Tom could observe some of the craziest dance demonstrations ever dreamed up by a balmy jitterbug. It's really something to make Bob Alton turn over in his time-step.

"Two For the Show" Talk.

When Eunice Healy was ill recently, but still working in the show, her rugged admirer, Dean Norton, used to carry her upstairs. Now that she's completely well again he still carrier her upstairs. . . . John Murray Anderson, the colorful director, who always calls actors, showgirls and stage-hands by fantastic nicknames, never by their own monickers, has out-done himself on this show. Brenda Forbes, the English comedienne, he calls "Cuckoo the Bird Girl;" Bill Archibald is "Bidoom;" Frances Comstock gets hailed as "Old Comstock;" Frank Spencer, the assistant stage manager, has become "Hapsburg" and Betty Hutton is known as "Jitter," for the most obvious reasons.

Brenda Forbes' Sealyham, John, a regular backstage visitor, has a perfect right to hang around a theater. He was given to Brenda by Ruth Chatterton, and his brother Luke belongs to Dorothy Parker.

This is one show in which nobody knits backstage—because there are so few stage waits, and everyone runs around frantically changing costumes in time for the next scene.

Most costume changes come so fast that frequently the members of the cast don't have time to go back to their dressing rooms. They just jump out of their clothes and into a new set right in the wing.

The "Higher and Higher" Gazette.

"Higher and Higher" is currently bringing Broadway to Boston, and looks like a hit by the time it takes over Times Square. . . . Meanwhile the chorines, reversing Ann Sheridan's rebuff at the Crimson, are having a fine time dating the Harvard lads, who stand around the stage door and wait, the cold Back Bay wind whistling through their whiffle haircuts.

Because Larry Hart wrote the lyrics for the show, his brother, comedian Teddy, is having nervous prostrations in New York. He bolted up to New Haven when the musical was there, and he keeps in constant and apprehensive touch with Larry, who nonchalantly commutes between the bean city and the Manhattan bistros.

Sharky, the trained seal in the piece, has caused considerable ad libbing by not leaving the stage when he should. This is very disconcerting, but you can't scold a seal. So the actors just stay disconcerted. On opening night, the trainer couldn't attract Sharky's attention from the wings, even though he waved an alluring fish at him, so Lee Dixon and Jack Haley had to spar vocally until the seal decided to plod off.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Gower Gulch, the local street corner cowboy rendezvous which broke into the headlines with a shooting recently, has about one chance in 2,500 of contributing a cowboy star to pictures.

Bob Tansey figures it that way, and Bob has been around cowboys and pictures a long time. He writes cowboy pictures, directs them, produces them, has acted in them. Sometimes he writes, directs and produces, all at the same time. In his typewriter now are five new movie stories, to each of which he gives his literary attentions as its deadline for production approaches. Bob, a lean and wiry chap, can dream up "Western" plots between races at Santa Anita. He's been in the game for 34 years.

"The cowboy extra has about one chance in 1,000 even to get to featured roles," says Bob. "And when they want a star, they usually don't take a cowboy. They take a fellow who can sing, who's good-looking, and can play a guitar and look like a cowboy, and then they teach him to ride—enough to get by, anyway."

That's nothing new, however. The first of the screen's cowboy stars was G. M. "Broncho Billy" Anderson. Terry Ramsaye, the film historian, relates the legend of Broncho's debut in "The Great Train Robbery." Broncho Billy, according to the story, was thrown from a horse the first day of shooting and took the train back to New York. He returned to finish the movie, but had no more to do with horses for a while.

Just as the first "Westerns" were shot in the wild plains of New Jersey, so cowboy stardom has not swerved much from its effete origins. W. S. Hart, successor to Anderson and long-time ruler of the movie West, was a stage actor who became a "cowboy"—and a real one—for the movies.

Tom Mix was a Westerner all the way, with a full past of range adventure before he hit pictures, and Ken Maynard, out of Texas, came to movies from a wild-West circus.

But they didn't find Gene Autry in Gower Gulch. Gene's from Texas, and he knew his way about, but they picked him off the air. Bill Boyd used to be a "straight" actor before he fell into "Hopalong Cassidy," and George O'Brien was in an Academy award picture ("Sunrise") long before his brawn was placed in the saddle. The Ivy League contributed Dick Foran and Charles Starrett to the leading man ranks, and they—two surprised Easterners—were booted, in short order, up into the saddle. Randolph Scott, at home now in frequent Western roles, hails from Virginia. The movie West's Tom Keene was George Duryea—imported by DeMille from the stage where he'd done such outdoor pieces as "Abie's Irish Rose." John Wayne, from U. S. C., fitted naturally into Western epics.

But the boys all learn to ride, even if they don't know a bit from a stirrup when they start. Riding isn't everything these days—not when the range is supposed to be full of crooners.

And when a cowboy star can barely get by on his riding, there's always Gower Gulch. There are about a hundred right smart trick riders who'll double for a star at the drop of a slouch hat.

However, when it comes to stardom for the stunters—that's one chance in 2,500.

L. of C. met Tuesday night at the Bird building club rooms. The next regular meeting will be held April 2 with Mrs. Frank Wehinger as chairwoman. Plans were also made to attend a demonstration at the Peat hardware company April 10 at 2 p. m. The demonstration is for members of the organization and their friends.

SMOOTH-RISING CAKES

If you expect your cakes to rise evenly see that the pans are not warped. Buy pans that are heavy enough to hold their shape; store them carefully so they will not get bent.

Whenever using a mop pail be sure to place it upon a carpet mat or a number of thicknesses of newspapers. If you don't a ring may form on your carpet or rug and such things are hard to get out. When working near long curtains, pin the curtains up and out of any danger.

Re-Name Officers Of Nomad Club At Luncheon Meeting

All officers of the Nomad club were re-elected yesterday when Mrs. Louis A. Meisse entertained at the Susie Janis home on Park avenue west. They are Mrs. Mary B. Gilbert, president; Mrs. Robert B. The meeting of the Auxiliary to the Firemen's Local which was scheduled with Mrs. E. L. Penny, 105 Sheridan avenue, tonight, has been advanced to March 28.

M. D. WARD, JR., GIVES TALK ON GOVERNMENT

Student Club Members Assist With Clinic Benefit Affairs; Plan Annual Spring Party During Evening Session.

PRECEDING the business meeting of the Student club last night M. D. Ward, jr., spoke on city government. He gave a brief history and described the functions of the various departments. The session was held at the home of Mrs. F. K. Ackerman, 104 Sherman avenue, with Mrs. I. A. Balyeat assisting.

Mrs. N. E. White was a guest of the group. During the meeting Mrs. A. L. Glattke was appointed to attend the meeting of the case workers for the Dental Clinic which was held this afternoon with Mrs. John Daley, 470 West Third street.

Mrs. Balyeat and Mrs. K. R. Cartnal were appointed to assist with typing for the clinic, and Mrs. George Ingram and Mrs. Ward announced the progress of the ticket sale for the clinic card parties which will be held next Wednesday and Thursday at the American Legion home.

Plans were discussed for the club's annual spring party, and arrangements will be made by Mrs. M. L. Smith, chairman, Mrs. F. W. Forkner, Mrs. K. B. Miller, Mrs. Glattke and Mrs. C. R. Montgomery.

A paper on Orson Welles was given by Mrs. Miller. She told of his childhood and youth in Chicago where he showed amazing precocity. Later he attended the Todd school where he did everything connected with the theater, and at present he is the possessor of a most fabulous Hollywood contract in which he is given free rein to write, direct and act in his own pictures.

Refreshments were served later in the evening with Mrs. Miller presiding at the table which was decorated with white snapdragons and white candles in silver holders. The next meeting will be held April 3 with Mrs. F. W. Forkner. Mrs. W. M. Jeffries will be the associate hostess, and Mrs. L. L. Wenger will give a book review.

Roast for Two Problem to Young Wives

THE ROAST-FOR-TWO is a problem to many young homemakers. They'd like to serve a rare roast of beef or a crisp roast of lamb, but usually compromise on a steak, chops or hamburger.

But there are some cuts of meat for two people which can be bought advantageously and cooked appetizingly. For that juicy roast of beef, you may buy one, two or three ribs. But to stand up well and command attention, the roast should have at least two ribs. Simply ask the butcher to make a Newport Roast for you. This he does by cutting off a few inches of the tail of the ribs, leaving the choice part for the roast; it fits the roast pan better, too.

Use the part he cuts off for a meat pie. Simmer in cold water for a couple of hours, remove bone and gristle, add what is left of the roast and a can of prepared soup, such as mulligatawny, a little thickening and some seasoning. Put all this in a deep oven baking dish, cover with a prepared pie crust.

Get Half a Ham.

A ham, the whole or either half, is not expensive. Why not buy half a ham, have several slices cut off for broiling, or one thick slice for baking, and ask the butcher to hold the rest until you are ready for it? No need to tell you what to do with cold roast ham. It's the ideal find for friend husband when he raids the ice-box.

Most butchers have rolled roasts of beef or lamb already prepared. These are usually as tender and juicy as the same cuts of beef would be if they were not rolled, but it is wise to check up. What looks so nice all rolled up may not be the best of the rib, as you expect, but a piece of bottom round or chuck intended for a pot roast.

Tell the butcher that you want a duck of lamb and he'll get busy. A shoulder lamb weighs about six and one-half to seven pounds, too much for a little family of two. For the duck, the butcher will partially bone the shoulder and roll it up; this makes about four and one-half to five pounds of meat. It slices very nicely and is less expensive than a leg of lamb. There is generally no service charge for boning, and a thrifty little housewife will make delicious soup out of the bones.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Katie answered my call with a cheery "Cooming!" and I went back into her sitting room and shut the door. But it was Lillian who came into the room a minute later.

"You couldn't have timed it better," she said. "Katharine just came down to say that your father has wakened, and is asking for us. Just leave everything here as is. Katie will be up after the trays. Let's go over to your father's suite now."

She started for the door, but I stopped her.

"Do you mind letting me go down through the kitchen?" I asked. "Mary went through this door and—"

"I get you," she said. "You're taking no chances on Olina. Sure thing. We'll both go down the kitchen stairs. Come along!"

She muttered prison fashion: "How did the rehearsal go?"

"Couldn't be better," I answered. "She's perfect, as far as I can judge."

"Who better?" she gibed.

"If she only does as well tomorrow!" I sighed.

"She will. Trust Mary. She's a real trouper," she commented, and then we were at the top of the stairs and met Mary coming out of her room, followed by Noel.

"'Lo, there!" Mary said as if she had not seen me for hours. "I'm going to have a nap on the balcony. Is there any objection?"

"None whatever," I said. "Hurry up and pre-empt the couch before somebody else files a claim. Noel, may I speak to you a minute?"

He wheeled obediently, and came up to me as I gave Lillian a rapid message.

"Please tell Father I'll be along in another minute," I said. Then, drawing Noel back into his room, I shut the door.

"I'm putting Mary very specially into your hands tonight," I said. "She just gave a perfect rendition of her role, but she is extremely jittery, and I want to have her in perfect shape tomorrow. I prescribed this nap on the balcony until dinner time, and I wish you would go to Katharine at once and tell her I asked to have the balcony kept clear for Mary until dinner. If you lock the door into the big hall, then nobody can get out there from that side."

"I'll watch over her every minute," Mary's husband said. "And she said she wanted to play chess tonight. Is that all right?"

"Yes, anything to take her mind off tomorrow. And get her to bed before midnight, and have her sleep tomorrow until I call her."

"I'll attend to everything," Noel promised, and after a friendly clap on his shoulder I hurried out of the room and down the hall to my father's room.

The door was ajar, and Lillian was standing in the opening waiting for me. As I reached the door she put out her hands and pulled me inside, closing and locking the door as soon as I entered.

"I am glad you are here, Margaret," my father said, and I knew that if anyone else had delayed a conference of his, he would have been extremely irritated. But I always have been sacrosant, and I did not make the mistake of apologizing for my tardiness. Indeed, my father gave me no chance for explanation or apology. Dicky had placed a chair for me next to my father, and at a gesture from "the Chief" I sank gratefully into it. Then my father sat up straighter in his chair and spoke.

"Now that we are all here," he said, "I want to tell you of a telephone message which I received shortly after I awakened. Jack Leslie called me up, disguising his voice, but letting me know without any mistake who he was. He had seen the messenger, he accepts my terms, and he names the third day from now as the time when he will exchange the emeralds for the persons of Noel and Mary."

Make Requests Pleasant

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

STUBBORNNESS is a good trait when properly employed. Without it we could have no striving to overcome great difficulties, no leadership or moral progress. Without it there could not have been Florence Nightingale, Moses, Socrates, St. Paul, Jesus.

Would you and I want our children always to give up easily and run away from hard things? Would we want them never to be stubborn? Certainly not.

We want our children to be stubborn at the right things, in the right place, at the right time. We want the baby who attempts to make his rubber dolly stand alone not to give up until he eventually succeeds. We want the boy or girl who begins to make things for fun to stick to the job until he has finished, if possible, what he set out to do. We want the youth not to give up the problem in mathematics until it is solved.

Rage Not Involved.

But no such stubbornness as we have considered here is accompanied by violent or explosive rage. Yet, we ordinarily associate strong expression of anger with stubbornness. Generally we think of stubbornness as expressed by the child who refuses to do what his parents try to force him to do against his will. The longer they exert this force, the more stubborn he grows, as a rule. Often he wins and gets rewarded for his rage, growing more inclined to be stubborn later.

It is relatively easy to train a tot to avoid doing certain specific things, by applying immediate physical pain without exception. But no amount of force may compel him to do what you command him to do. The child of two or three who deliberately throws a block at the mirror may never do it again if his throwing is immediately followed by a good, sound spanking. Yet, he might refuse to pick up that block even after a dozen spankings. Around such refusals to obey a command arise nearly all stubbornness about which parents need to be concerned.

Avoid Commands.

Don't command a little child, except in routines, and routines rarely require commanding, to do anything. Then you won't have a stubborn child. Command him not to do a few things. But the things you want him to do, ask him to do, and employ illimitable patience to induce him to accede. Then heartily approve his co-operation as he does accede. Make pleasant what you want him to do and painful only what you want him never to do.

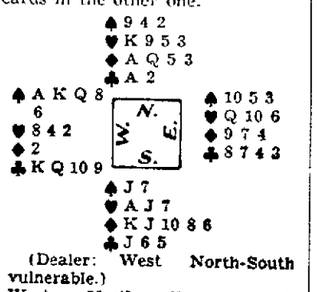
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PREVENTING A SQUEEZE

Statistics on the squeeze plays made by clever declarers could not very well be compiled, because such plays occur too seldom to justify anybody being on hand to record them regularly. But if they could be, it probably would be found that a sizeable number could have been prevented. The partner of the squeezed player could stop some of them by holding his best card of one of the suits in which the squeeze operates. That would enable the man across the table to discard safely in that suit while holding his high cards in the other one.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ♦
3 ♣	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♦
4 ♠	5 ♦

West led the spade K and Q and switched to the heart 8 when he should have led the club K. North played the heart 9. East the Q and South the A. Followed three high diamonds, the heart J, K and 5 for a club discard, then two more diamonds. When the last one was played, South also had two clubs, the dummy two clubs and the spade 9. West had two clubs and the spade A, and had to discard before dummy.

Tossing a club would enable South to play to the A, dropping the K and making the J good. Throwing the spade A would make dummy's 9 good, since East had discarded his spade 10 on one of the diamond leads.

Had East held on to the spade 10, West could have thrown away his A on the eleventh trick and retained his clubs. Who would ever think that a mere 10 would decide the fate of the contract, when held by the partner of a man who had rebid the suit at the level of four without ever hearing from his partner?

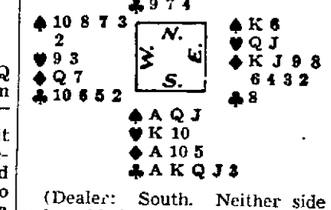
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If South bids 1-Club and North 1-Heart on this deal, what should East then do?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 22.

OUTSTANDING progress and unusual adventure of a thrilling or even sensational nature may be expected on this day, according to the strong Uranian complexion of the astral influences. There are likely to be sudden, surprising and dramatic events of far-reaching or radical effects on the life and its destiny, probably operating with whirlwind precipitancy. It is possible that the personal, emotional or romantic relationships of life may feel the most throbbing responses to this swift and surprising visitation.

Those whose birthday it is may be ready for a year of thrilling experiences, both in their private and business life. There may be adventure, dramatic and romantic affairs of sudden and surprising force, which may prove revolutionary, devastating and breath-taking. In creative lines there may be much urge to original and extraordinary, perhaps modernistic, expression.

A child born on this day may be talented and creative in unusual or novel lines, with much originality, independence and keen intellectuality.

SPANISH GOLD FOR CREDITS?

New Rumor Says Refugees Fund May Be Converted Into American Dollars.

MEXICO CITY—(INS)—Is the hoard of Spanish gold surreptitiously ferried across the Atlantic nearly a year ago in the mysterious yacht Vita, unloaded at Tampico and brought to Mexico City under guard of Mexican soldiers, to leave its hiding place in Mexican vaults for conversion in the United States into American dollars or credits?

This is one of the newest rumor-questions from the web of speculation that an imaginative public has spun about Mexico's most modern story of Spanish treasure.

Avowedly brought to Mexico for use in establishing refugees from Loyalist Spain, the amount of the treasure, where it is kept, and just how it will be utilized are questions that have remained unanswered since the precious cargo reached Mexican soil in March of 1939.

Estimates of the value of the Vita's cargo range from $8,000,000 to $56,000,000. Credible sources avow it is composed of bullion, jewelry and gold ornaments moved out of Spain under the very noses of General Franco's conquering columns by fleeing capitalists and officials of the Loyalists government.

Other reports, placing the value of the treasure at 14,000,000 pounds sterling (about $56,000,000) have been that the fund is to be used to establish industries so as to give employment to the refugees in Mexico.

NEWLYWED BUDGET

WILMINGTON, Del.—(INS)—Young people contemplating marriage should be sure of an income of at least $160 a month, a Y. W. C. A. forum audience decided here. And of that amount the newlyweds might be able to save $15 monthly by strict economy, the group said.

SELL STAMPS FOR U. S. ARMS

Seek American Currency Through Sale of Rare Collection.

LONDON—(INS)—Stamps worth $700,000 are to be sold in the United States to obtain American currency with which to buy arms.

The collection which is said to be the second finest in England, belong to the late David Bernhard, famed philatelist, is surpassed only by the collection owned by King George of England. It was bought by dealer Frank Godden for sale abroad.

Ironically enough the collection contains German stamps to the value of over $60,000. Another treasure is the Western Australia "Inverted Swan." Only eight of these are in existence. Each is worth $4,000.

The population of California on January 1, 1940, was estimated by the State Taxpayers' Association as over seven million.

O. S. R. PAROLEE IN JAIL AGAIN

Youth Released 6 Months Ago Held in Cincinnati Burglaries.

An Ohio State reformatory parolee, released from the institution less than six months ago, was held in a Cincinnati jail today in connection with the burglary of several homes in Cincinnati during the past few weeks.

Dispatches from Cincinnati said a 22-year-old youth who gave the name of James Leslie McCormick, confessed to police that he had stolen articles from at least 15 Cincinnati homes.

Reformatory records show that McCormick was released on parole Sept. 30, 1939 after serving little less than two years on charges of house breaking and larceny. He was sentenced from Hamilton county Nov. 24, 1937.

Masked Marvel Challenges 'Hun' for Showdown Match

THE long awaited feud between those two mysterious masked men of the wrestling pad, the Masked Marvel and "The Hun" broke right out into the open today when the Masked Marvel took the bit in his teeth and threw a fiery challenge at "The Hun" to wrestle him in a showdown match here.

Matchmaker Tim Nolan of the Quality club has been seeking to sign this match for several weeks but neither seemed to care to make the first move until the Masked Marvel took the initiative and threw down the guantlet to the other masked mystery man.

Riding on the crest of his fine victory over "Bull" Marino here last Monday night in which the Masked Marvel upset the dope to win from the rugged Italian, the Marvel has gone out after "The Hun" in earnest.

"There isn't room in one town for two masked men" the Marvel told Matchmaker Nolan "and I'm going to eliminate this other guy from the picture. I don't know who he is but I was here first and he's either going to have to get out or wrestle me to see who stays.

"I haven't lost a match in my last 106 starts so why should I be afraid of a test of strength with him," the Marvel said, and tell him to either sign for a match with me or to get out of Mansfield."

* * *

Nolan, pleased at the attitude of the Marvel in bringing the situation to a showdown was to offer "The Hun" terms for the match today. If he is successful in making it the two masked men will wrestle in the Armory on next Thursday night over the two out of three falls route.

Meet Tonight In Play-Offs

Three Quintets Battle for Senior League Title.

The Isaly Dairys and Rex Billiards tangle at 7 p. m in the initial contest of a two-game playoff to decide the second half Senior Class A basketball league championship on the Friendly House hardwood.

* * *

Raemelton Farmers, who shared honors with the Dairys and Cuemen in the second half race, drew a bye and will meet the winner of the opening game for the crown.

* * *

If the Farmers win the last game they automatically annex the Senior league championship as they already own the first half title. A defeat will send the Farmers against their rivals in another playoff affair Tuesday night.

BATTLE IN SEMI-FINALS OF NATIONAL CAGE MEET

DENVER — (AP) — Quarter-final bracketings in the National A. A. U. tournament tonight bridge a broad basketball belt stretching from wind-lashed Lake Michigan to the palm-shaded Hollywood hills.

The eight teams from seven states—California has two—number the sentimental favorites, Denver's national champion Nuggets and the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66 powerhouse, runnerup last year and in 1937.

Fighters Face Initial Tests

Make Ring Debut in Annual JAC Tournament.

Two Mansfield youngsters will make their fistic debut in the third annual Junior Association of Commerce A. A. U. boxing tournament next week.

Entering the ring for the first time will be Joe Sauer, a welterweight and Frank Truly, a bantamweight, and from reports emerging for the Friendly House training quarters the lads may surprise their more experienced opponents.

* * *

Sauer, a brother of Al Sauer, Mansfield middleweight, and Truly have been working out this week with "Honeyboy" Jones, of Mansfield, top-notch professional middleweight.

Young Truly possesses a potent right-hand attack and Jones is working hard rounding him into top-top shape for the tournament.

HOPPE IN LEAD

CHICAGO—(INS)—Willie Hoppe, whose name is almost a synonym for billiards, today held a commanding lead with seven straight victories in the world's three-cushion billiard championships.

Daley Juniors Trip Golden Flashes in Finals of Friendly House Meet.

By GEORGE SATTLER

The Daley Cafe Juniors walloped the Mansfield Golden Flashes to win the Friendly House Class B Junior tournament in a hard-fought battle in the settlement last night.

The Flashes won over a favored Ashland St. Edward's five in the semi-finals by a 26 to 22 margin, only to drop their second tilt of the evening to the Daleys by a 33 to 22 score.

* * *

Although tired by a strenuous semi-final fracas, the Flashes put up a stiff battle all the way. In the first half of the finals with the Daleys, it looked like a toss-up. But the Golden club began to show the effects of the earlier play and the Daleys staged a scoring spree to clinch the match early in the second half.

* * *

Joe Marfia, Daley star forward, and Joe Altemonte, Daley guard, led the scoring. Between them they chalked up 26 of the Daleys' 33 points, with Marfia's tricky one-handed shot doing most of the damage.

* * *

Jim Robertson of the Flashes showed plenty of ability as a defensive man and scoring threat, and wee Bobbie Baker, young eighth grader, more than once eluded the rangy Daleys to put the Golden Flashes into scoring position.

Indians to Post Hits, Errors on Scoreboard.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will post official decisions on hits and errors on the scoreboard this season. The Cincinnati Reds installed the "H" and "E" on their board last season. The American league recently withdrew its objection, allowing individual clubs to decide what to do. "I've always been for it," Vice President C. C. Slapnicka said in Florida in announcing the decision. The league had ruled against hit and error information, fearing prompt flashing of decisions would encourage gambling in the stands.

Seek Approval Of Foul Detector

DETROIT — (AP) — Use of the "electric eye" for detecting fouls will likely go into effect at the current American Bowling congress championships here after the annual convention, scheduled for March 29.

* * *

The congress heretofore has failed to sanction mechanical devices for detecting fouls.

The electric eye foul detector is said to be absolutely fool-proof, and officials are confident it will be approved.

Only one major change was recorded in yesterday's tournament bowling. Al Cotton of Highland Park, Mich., took over fourth place in the all-events division with a total of 1812.

BARNES NAMED ON BOARD OF GOLF ASSOCIATION

Thomas R. Barnes of Mansfield, vice president of the Citizens Savings and Loan company, was elected a member of the board of governors of the Ohio Golf association at a meeting in Columbus yesterday. Frank H. Pelton, of Cleveland, former Ohio Seniors champion, was elected honorary president of the association.

CHUCK FENSKE SEEKS NEW RECORD IN MILE

NEW YORK — (INS) — Chuck Fenske, Wisconsin's mile king, today elected to seek a new world record in the mile and a half race, rather than the three-quarter mile, at the track meet of champions in Madison Square Garden March 31.

Fenske will run against Walter Mehl, Wisconsin, Ralph Schwartzkopf of Michigan and Gene Venzke, former Penn star.

Joe Rates Paycheck Seriously

Bomber Works Unusually Hard for Title Tussle Next Week.

By JACK CUDDY

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y.—(U.P.) — The seriousness with which Joe Louis is training up here in the Warwick Mountains provides unexpected proof that the heavyweight champion, at least, rates Johnny Paychek as a formidable challenger.

If hard work can sharpen a man to peak condition, Bomber Joe certainly will be in the "pink" when he climbs through the ropes to defend his title against Paychek of Des Moines at Madison Square Garden a week from tomorrow night.

For this 10th crown defense, the Detroiter is training more strenuously than ever before. For the first time in his career, Louis is boxing five days a week, instead of his usual four. His quartet of sparmates are tops in their line—men who give Joltin Joe a battle in every round. And he has extended his road runs.

The entire camp's attitude toward Paychek comes as a distinct surprise to an observer who arrives from New York City where the fans, who haven't seen Paychek in action since he rose to prominence, rate him a push-over for the hard-hitting champion.

But old Jack Blackburn, the champion's trainer, h-a-s seen Paychek in action in the midwest. And after Louis' pathetic showing against Arturo Godoy on Feb. 9, the elderly trainer with the razor tatting on his face is taking no chances against Paychek whom he describes as "a cutie who might make Joe look pow'ful silly if he gits discautious."

"A black eye—hugh? Dat's bad—pow-ful bad," said Jack. "Max S'mellin got a black eye jes' befoah he knocked out Joe dat time. An' Tommy Farr got a cut eye befoah he gave Joe dat long fight."

* * *

Maybe Joe is training hard because he figures on fighting again in April? Co-Manager John Roxborough spiked this supposition immediately. He said Joe wouldn't fight in April. If he beats Paychek, he'll make only two more defenses this year and both outdoors, in June and September.

AMBERS SIGNS TO MEET JENKINS IN TITLE BOUT

NEW YORK — (INS) — Beset by lawsuits and bedeviled by postponements, Uncle Mike Jacobs today breathed a sigh of relief as he pocketed the signed contracts of Champion Lou Ambers and Challenger Lew Jenkins for a lightweight title battle in Madison Square Garden May 10.

What he didn't say, but which is nonetheless a fact, is that he had to promise Al Weill, manager of Ambers, to give Arturo Godoy another shot at Joe Louis this summer before Al would consent to let Ambers go with Jenkins.

A wide-angle lens looks at Buddy Baer, heavyweight contender whose battle with Valentin Campolo of the Argentine in New York has been postponed. Baer is the younger brother of Maxie, the former heavyweight titleholder.

Bill Delancey Has Scored First Success in Comeback.

ST. PETERSBURG—(AP)—Bill Delancy, former St. Louis Cardinal catcher who was forced by illness to take a five-year recess from baseball in 1935, has scored the first success in his major league comeback. The Cardinals announced that Delancy, who had a great season with the 1934 world champions, again is a full-fledged member of the club. His contract will be purchased from Sacramento.

JOEY MEDWICK LEAVES FOR SALARY CONFERENCE

ST LOUIS—(U.P.)—Joe Medwick, holdout outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, leaves by plane today for Tampa, Fla., on the first leg of his trip to a salary conference with Vice President Branch Rickey at the club's training camp.

Medwick said he had accepted a written invitation from Rickey to confer at St. Petersburg, Fla. He will complete the trip by auto after landing at Tampa.

Globe Trotters Win Professional Title

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Harlem Globe Trotters had four more triumphs and the Invitational Basketball tournament championship today to add to their 15 year collection.

The Globe Trotters, who played chiefly in the Pacific northwest during the regular season and are credited with 1,714 victories in 1,842 starts during the last 15 years, turned back Chicago's Bruins in the championship final last night, 31 to 29.

A field of 14 teams competed in the event which was won last year by the New York Renaissance outfit.

Mack to Start At Second Base

Rivals Gordon of Yanks as Fielder; Boudreau Will Be Ready for Opener.

By GAYLE TALBOT

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—There is a popular baseball saying, tinted faintly with irony, that the Cleveland Indians always win the pennant this time of year.

Nevertheless, when three Cleveland baseball writers named McCauley, Cobbledick and Gibbons, and each bigger than the other, greeted this visitor like money from home and demanded to bet him that the Indians finish ahead of the Boston Red Sox in the coming American league race, they at least aroused a suspicion that something might be going on here among the royal palms.

It wasn't too difficult to discover what the boys were excited about. Though he at first attempted to laugh the matter off as childish fancy on the part of his writing corps, Manager Oscar Vitt soon broke down and admitted that they probably were thinking about his new keystone combination — Louis Boudreau at shortstop and Ray Mack at second base.

This young pair joined the Indians from Buffalo last season and their performance was sensational. Inspired by their fielding, the Indians won 19 of their last 23 games to finish a fast closing third behind Boston.

"I guess the boys think that with Boudreau and Mack in there all the way we ought to beat the Red Sox this time," said Oscar. "I'll admit it looks like we've solved our biggest problem. Mack isn't much of a hitter, but he and Boudreau are such great fielders and so fast on double plays that I'm almost willing to overlook his hitting. Besides, I'll have Oscar Grimes ready to step in for Mack if it develops that we need a little more punch."

Boudreau is out at present with a chipped ankle bone, while Grimes slowly is recovering from a recent knee operation, but Vitt expects both to be ready by the start of the campaign. Mack looks better in the field day after day, frequently making acrobatic stops that rival Joe Gordon of the Yankees as he gains confidence.

With Hal Trosky back on first and Ken Keltner at third, it looks as if the Indians finally might have an infield to rival either the Yankees or the Red Sox. They still lack the batting power of either of their principal rivals, but their pitching is better than Boston's.

The Indians possess a sound outfield trio in Ben Chapman, Jeff Heath and Roy Weatherly, all potential .300 hitters, with Beau Bell in reserve. They have one acceptable catcher now in Rollie Hemsley, who has been a reformed young man for nearly a year, and will have another as soon as Frankie Pytlak comes to terms.

As long as Bob Feller and Mel Harder keep their health, the Indians will get superb pitching a big part of the time. Feller, with tight support and improved control, conceivably might reach the 30-victory mark this year. Johnny Allen, who formerly rounded out a formidable mound trio, hopes to make a comeback after an indifferent season.

The most promising "rookie" pitcher in camp is 31-year-old Al Smith, who drifted into the
